TRUMAN SEES RECORD SURPLUS

Says Congress Cuts Amounted To 1½ Billions

Puts Total Spending At $37,000,000,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP) — President Truman attributed a $1,500,000,000 saving to the Republican Congress today in a budget review which forecast that continued high prices, taxes, incomes and employment would produce the biggest Treasury surplus in history.

But the President said other factors, not counting new sums for foreign aid, will limit the reduction in government spending to $528,000,000 for the year ending next June 30. He put the total at $37,000,000,000.

In bringing the budget up to date Mr. Truman made it clear the administration will ask for more money for its international program and this might greatly alter his computations.

He indicated continued opposition to lowering taxes.

And he announced he has ordered all government agencies to keep their budgets below the ones under which they now operate. In some instances he has "established certain definite limitations."

In reviewing a budget he termed "hard-boiled" to start with, the Chief Executive was unable to say at this time how much the bill will be for further international assistance. With the totals subject to change because of that uncertainty, he predicted that in the current fiscal year ending next June 30:

Will Spend 37 Billions

1. The government will spend an even $37,000,000,000. This is $528,000,000 less than he estimated when he submitted his original budget to Congress in January.

2. Uncle Sam's income will be $41,667,000,000. This is $3,937,000,000 higher than the January calculation. The revision is based on "a continuance of employment, prices, and incomes close to their present levels throughout the fiscal year." Bigger individual income tax collections account for $2,100,000,000 of the boost.

3. The Treasury will show a surplus of $4,667,000,000—largest ever tallied—next June 30. The $258,000,000,000 national debt may be reduced to $253,000,000,000.

In view of unsettled world conditions and inflationary trends, Mr. Truman said it would be "reckless" to fail to have a substantial surplus.

He declared any leftover income and part of the Treasury's spare cash should be applied to the public debt. While he did not mention the issue of tax reduction directly, that evidently put him exactly in the position he took this summer when he vetoed two tax-cutting bills on grounds they came at the wrong time. Congress upheld the vetoes.

Truman, GOP Disagree

With a few digs, but no outspoken criticism, the President put his own figures up against GOP claims of savings as high as $6,000,000,000 or $7,000,000,000 in the last congressional session.

Democrats have been insisting many of the cuts the Republicans claimed were "phony." In any event, spending already has become a top campaign issue for 1948.

Mr. Truman recalled that his January budget estimated expenditures at $37,528,000,000. Subsequent additions and more in prospect, plus various technical changes, brought the amount up to $38,520,000,000.

The reduction of $1,520,000,000 attributed to Congress placed it at an even $37,000,000,000.

The President credited Congress with reaching the $1,520,000,000 figure this way:

It made total cuts of $2,661,000,000, offset by increases of $309,000,000. And since "Congress itself has recognized that some of its reductions, such as those for tax refunds and the Atomic Energy Commission, will have to be restored," it will have to cancel out another $832,000,000 of the reductions.

Besides this, Mr. Truman made it clear additional requests for funds to help other countries will reach Congress later on.

Still to be determined is the cost of Secretary of State Marshall's plan. It contemplates American assistance after various European nations, now meeting in Paris, have decided how much they can help themselves.

Britain Will Ration Its Trade Dollars

Convertibility Exchange Plan To Be Dropped

U. S. Foreign Trade Will Be Affected

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—(AP)—In an extraordinary emergency measure, Britain imposed tight rationing today over the dollars she has left for world trade—A step taken with United States approval to avert economic chaos.

Simultaneously, Sir Wilfred Eady, chief of a British financial mission here discussing modification of additional terms of the dwindling $3,750,000,000 loan, disclosed at a news conference that Britain:

1. May have to cut imports for home consumption even beyond the drastic restrictions which already have been announced.

2. Already has notified the United States of its intention to make another withdrawal from the $850,000,000 remaining of the loan. He declined to disclose the exact amount but said a reporter's speculation it would be in the neighborhood of $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 had "about hit it."

3. Will have to rewrite 25 to 30 trade agreements with other countries containing clauses calling for exchange of pounds into dollars.

"Run" Preceded Decision

Dispatches from London quoted Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton as figuring the balance of the British loan at $758,000,000, as compared to a Washington Treasury figure of $850,000,000. This may be explained by the possibility that Dalton included the new withdrawal which Eady said has been requested.

The agreement calls for at least a temporary halt in future withdrawals, but the British decision to tap the credit again could have been taken before the new plan was drafted.

The rationing of Britain's remaining dollars was put into effect by suspending temporarily the dollars-for-pounds free convertibility program—one of the conditions of the big loan.

Under the convertibility program Britain, in current trade transactions with countries maintaining a sterling pound balance in London, would change those pounds into dollars upon demand. Eady declared this was draining deeply Britain's own dollar resources because of the world "scramble" to obtain them for American purchases.

"This is no fun for us," he said grimly, and added that he knows it is going to be "no fun for this country" because it will affect American foreign trade directly.

A United States Treasury spokesman at another news conference said a "pretty big dollar run on the Bank of England" preceded the decision.

The convertibility, or dollars for pounds, exchange plan was designed to increase the flow of trade by removing financial barriers which tended to produce restrictive agreements in areas which dealth primarily in one currency or the other.

New Step Is Temporary

The agreement, announced simultaneously here and in London, made it plain that the new step is temporary in nature, and that it will not affect directly the payment of dollars for United States purchases by Britain itself.

In other words, Britain will continue to pay its American exports in dollars from what she has left from the loan, plus what she gets in return for her own sales here. In addition to a probable reduction of those imports, however, it will have another obvious impact on this country's foreign trade.

Under the suspension of the convertibility program between Britain and other countries, the latter will find themselves without an important source for obtaining the dollars with which to trade directly with this country.

Eady acknowledged, for example,

European Recovery Vital To Western Hemisphere Economy, Marshall Says

Takes Precedence Because Of Urgency

QUITANDINHA, Brazil, Aug. 20—Secretary of State Marshall told the Inter-American Conference today that the United States had assumed heavy economic burdens to meet the challenge of political and moral problems in a Europe "now threatened with starvation and economic chaos" and that "the economic rehabilitation of Europe is vital to the economy of this hemisphere."

In an obvious reply to persistent demands for a "Marshall Plan" for Latin American countries, the American Secretary pledged that the United States would continue to help Latin American countries to seek "a sound basis" for practical economic co-operation.

Marshall was given a thunderous applause at the end of his speech. Among his listeners was Senora Eva Duarte Peron, wife of the Argentine President.

State Exists For Man

Marshall included in his 1,100-word address an indirect reference to totalitarian states when he declared "we must reject encroachment upon the fundamental rights of the individual with the same determination that we reject any encroachment upon the fundamental rights of the state. I am confident that we all agree that the state exists for the man, not the man for the state—and that we abhor any limitations upon the freedom of expression of men throughout the world.

"For only when we have access to the thoughts of men, to the forces of public opinion free of coercion or connivance, only then can we develop a wholesome common interest while at the same time respecting separate national traditions."

Prior to his address before a plenary conference session, Marshall continued his "get acquainted talks" with various foreign ministers. Ricardo Alfero, of Panama, said his conference with Marshall centered around "the very disquieting international situation," and that "we agreed peace has not been consolidated in a way which people desire so as to really be free from fear."

Mutual Defense Main Concern

In his address, Marshall made clear that the United States feels that it is the sole business of the present conference to draw up the treaty for mutual defense and security contemplated by the Act of Chapultepec at Mexico City in 1945, and that economic considerations should be left over for the subsequent meeting in Bogota in January of next year.

"Today, at Rio de Janeiro, our concern is with mutual defense and security; tomorrow at Bogota we shall go on to reorganize and strengthen our inter-American system and to make it a more effective agency of co-operation in the pursuit of our common interest," he said.

Cuba has asked for a clause against "economic aggression" in the treaty. Argentine declarations have emphasized the importance which that country attaches to economic matters.

NAVY JET PLANE HITS 640.7 MILES AN HOUR FOR NEW WORLD MARK

MUROC, Calif., Aug. 20 (AP)—The Navy sent the jet-propelled D-558 Douglas Skystreak, piloted by a veteran combat flyer, bellowing four times over a three-kilometer course at an average of 640.7 miles an hour today to set a new international air speed record.

The stub-winged craft was piloted by Comdr. Turner F. Caldwell, 33, Arlington, Va., and by his streaking flight over this arid Mojave Desert Army air base he returned the air speed record to the Navy for the first time since Lt. Al Williams set a then prodigious 266.59 miles an hour record in a Curtis plane in 1933.

The Navy craft, an experimental job which will be turned over shortly to the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics for further tests, flew at 653.4 miles an hour on the fastest of its four flashing passes at the course.

The plane, in establishing the new mark, broke the record set a month ago by Army Col. Albert Boyd, who flew the course at 623.8 miles an hour in the Army Air Forces' Lockheed jet P-80-R.

U. S. Lays Balkan Problem Before Assembly Of U. N.

Observers' Recall Is Opposed By Lie

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 20 (AP) — The United States today placed the explosive Balkan problem before the 55-member United Nations Assembly after repeated Soviet vetoes had blocked action in the Security Council.

The new United States move came less than 24 hours after the council admitted its inability to solve the problem which had plagued the United Nations for more than 18 months.

Herschel V. Johnson, deputy United States delegate, proposed specifically that the Assembly act to halt "threats to the political independence and territorial integrity of Greece."

Secretary-General Trygve Lie assured him that the question would be placed on the provisional agenda of the Assembly, which meets in New York September 16.

Lie Rejects Soviet Demands

Earlier, Lie had taken a firm stand against Russian demands that the United Nations recall its team of observers from the Balkans.

Lie told a news conference that as far as he was concerned the subsidiary group of the Balkan Investigating Commission was in Greece on orders of the Security Council and was going to stay there until the council ordered it to leave.

As Secretary-General, Lie is the man who would have to take the initiative in recalling the group unless the council itself sent it a direct order.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko took the position yesterday that both the Balkan commission and its subsidiary group were automatically "liquidated" when his two vetoes killed the last proposals to solve the Balkan problem.

Russia, Poland May Withdraw

Council President Faris El Khoury, of Syria, backed by a majority of the council, contended that these groups would continue in-

150 Known Dead In Cadiz Disaster

CADIZ, Spain, Thursday, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Provincial Health Board announced today that the known dead in the Cadiz arsenal explosion totaled 150 and that about 30 bodies still had not been recovered from the ruins.

It appeared, however, that complete figures on the casualties from Monday night's explosion would not be tallied soon, if ever.

The health board said the total number of injured was 5,000. Of these, 250 were listed as having been injured "seriously" and several thousand as having suffered cuts, bruises and other superficial injuries from flying glass and falling debris.

Mayor Francisco Sanchez Cossio estimated the death toll probably would reach 200, with 4,000 injured while Cifra, the official Spanish news agency, said the injured totaled only 2,000.

Many of the seriously injured who died in hospitals in neighboring cities had not been counted in the official list of 168.

The bodies of many others had been taken away by friends or relatives as they were found, without being counted officially.

The first mass funeral services, attended by top government officials, were held at noon today for 113 victims killed in the explosion Monday night which shook down many structures and set fires causing other large loss of life.

Pressure Is Put On Unions To File Anti-Red Papers

NLRB May Toss Out Thousands Of Cases

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20, (AP) — Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, announced tonight that more than 3,000 cases before the board will be thrown out unless the unions involved register and file non-Communist affidavits within 20 days.

This ruling put new pressure on labor leaders to provide the documents called for in the Taft-Hartley law. There was not immediate comment from the CIO or AFL. Generally speaking, CIO unions had planned not to file.

Starting Friday, the new law will prohibit a union from using the services of the NLRB unless the union and its parent bodies have complied with the filing provisions.

Machinists Register

A large independent union, the International Association of Machinists, with 600,000 members, announced its registration today and made public that President Harvey M. Brown receives $12,000 a year, Secretary-Treasurer Eric Peterson, $10,000, and the resident vice president, Albert J. Hayes, $9,000.

The union said these salaries are the "lowest of any major labor organization."

Peterson wrote the department that the machinists have barred Communists from membership since 1925.

In another development, Edgar L. Warren, retiring director of the Federal Conciliation Service, urged in his final report that we avoid "renewed government interference and regulation." He said that labor and management have found this to be "a crutch upon which the parties rely, rather than helping them along the path to self government."

Disputes At Postwar Low

With government participation kept at a minimum, they can work out problems through collective bargaining, he contended.

"As I leave office," Warren said: "Labor disputes are at a postwar low."

Warren will be succeeded by Cyrus S. Ching, former industrial relations director for the United States Rubber Company.

Denham's ruling on pending NLRB appeals gave a partial answer

Sales Tax Ruling Misinterpreted, Hammond States

Levy Can Be Figured On Total Purchases

BALTIMORE, Aug. 20 (AP)—Attorney General Hall Hammond said today as far as he is concerned buyers don't have to pay Maryland's new sales tax on each item when they make more than one purchase in a store—they can add up the prices and pay two per cent on that.

Hammond said Delegate Bernard S. Melnicove (D-Balto) apparently misinterpreted a ruling from the Attorney General's office when he expressed fears that Marylanders would have to figure the sales tax on each item when they made a multiple purchase.

Hammond explained his ruling had to do with the use of tax tokens to collect the two per cent. The same ruling advised the sales tax division that tokens cannot be used under the law as it stands now.

$1,115,700 Collected

Meantime, State Comptroller James J. Lacy reported on the basis of incomplete returns that the new tax law already has funneled $1,115,700 into the state treasury for July, its first month of operation.

Some 25,000 returns have come in, but ot even all of them have been tabulated. Some 8,000 more are expected.

The returns were due last Friday, but the collection division is making allowances because the blank forms didn't get out on time to the merchants who act as "collectors."

More than a hundred big houses have been granted extensions because they needed time to perfect bookkeeping arrangements and prepare their returns.

The forms already are out for the next monthly report, due September 15 on August business.

Lacy said today it is still impossible to guess intelligently what the state's income from the July sales tax will be.

Hammond Cites Rule

In expressing his informal opinion that buyers do not have to calculate the tax on individual items when they make multiple purchase, Attorney General Hammond cited Rule 3 of the comptroller's rules and regulations on the sales tax:

Because of the uncertainties of

EDITORIAL

State's Attorney's Office Continues To Suppress News

On numerous occasions during past months the thought must have occurred to readers of The Cumberland News that the gathering of news, especially that pertaining to crimes in which human lives have either been sacrificed or endangered, and other serious law violations, is sometimes difficult because of the lack of cooperation on the part of law enforcement agencies. Such a thought is correct.

We need only refer our readers to the story published yesterday morning which disclosed that an investigation is underway into the death on August 10, of John W. Foreman, Jr., World War II veteran.

The information on that investigation had to be gathered piece-meal by a reporter after the State's Attorney refused to confirm or deny that such a probe was underway. That attitude was carried so far as to refuse to listen to an account of information, bearing on the case, which has been assembled by a reporter independent of his office, by hanging up the receiver, and severing the telephone connection before that reporter could complete his recital.

We should point out that there has never been any attempt on the part of reporters of this newspaper at any time to be unfair and discourteous in their dealings with the State's Attorney's office, or any other law enforcement agency of the county or city, for that matter. Reporters have, at all times, sought to confirm information they have obtained and gathered outside of those agencies, and to write, as far as is humanly possible, factual accounts of details about whatever case might be being dealt with.

The public looks to newspapers for such information and the public has a right to expect that that information will be given it correctly. The State's Attorney's policy has been one of suppressing news, no matter what its nature, and he has made it quite clear to reporters that he does not intend to give Cumberland newspapers any information because he does not like their (the newspapers') attitudes.

We are at a loss to know of any attitude, except one of fairness, on our part, toward the State's Attorney's office. If he feels otherwise it has resulted from the fact that we have been able to give the public news, we believe it is entitled to, in spite of him. If that be the case we have no apologies to make to him or any other law enforcement agency in fulfilling an obligation to the readers of this newspaper.

As we have said, the State's Attorney's policy has been one of suppressing news, no matter what its nature, and in so doing ignores the fact that the public expects him to disclose through newspapers news from his office it considers it is entitled to. The State's Attorney may attempt to defend his position by stating that in giving information to newspapers his investigators will be handicapped in their work.

It has been our policy to respect any confidence which either the State's Attorney or police officials have placed in us, although we are frank to admit that, with some exceptions, the State's Attorney has even refused to go so far as to furnish us "off the record," and in confidence, any information we sought in connection with a case. We would not disclose any such information although we question very seriously that revealing so-called "confidential" facts would prevent the apprehension of the person or persons sought. A law violator, whether he be a thief, a rapist, a housebreaker, a hit and run driver or a killer, knows very well his act is not going unnoticed by the authorities, and that he is being sought, and will be caught, sooner or later.

The public expects newspapers to keep it informed, and this newspaper will continue to do just that. In the meantime, the public has a right to expect that co-operation will be forthcoming from any official it has elected to office to be its servant, whether or not he cares to think so.

Slump Delayed Clague Reports

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP) — There is not a thing in sight to show a depression is coming, Director Ewan Clague, of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said today.

Clague told a news conference that a summer slump predicted by some has been "indefinitely postponed."

Current high prices contain "nothing spectacular" of an economy-wrecking explosive nature, he observed.

Clague's agency keeps close watch on the business pulse through constant studies of employment, wages, hours of labor and prices.

Employment topped 60,000,000 in July for the second consecutive month—and even a drastic drop in exports would not mean a corresponding slump in employment, the official said.

Domestic demand, he declared, could "absorb a large part, if not all, of the difference." Only a "complete collapse" of the high export level could weaken the employment figures, Clague observed.

Unemployment reached a summer high of 2,600,000 but already has begun to recede, Clague said. He pointed to an increase in housing activity as a factor in sustaining the employment level.

July's unemployment was 300,000 above that of July, 1946, and the increase was concentrated among teen agers, indicating boys just out of school found it harder to connect with jobs than last year, he said.

Clague noted that only five industries showed downward trends in employment attributable to other than seasonal factors — machine tools, furniture, radios and phonographs, tires and tubes, and aluminum manufacturing.

Wyatt Indorses Truman

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 — (AP) — Wilson W. Wyatt, former Housing Administrator, said today President Truman "deserves to be and will be re-elected."

HANGAR AND 15 PLANES ARE DESTROYED BY FIRE AT MORGANTOWN, W. Va.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Aug. 20—(AP)—Fire of undetermined origin swept the municipal hanger at the Morgantown airport shortly after 6 p. m., EST, today and Assistant Airport Manager Ralph Bishop said that both the structure and 15 planes inside were a total loss.

Bishop could give no immediate estimate of the damage, but he explained that the planes destroyed were of various sizes and classes.

No injuries were reported.

The city was struck by a brief electrical storm about the time the blaze was discovered. Morgantown firemen were summoned, but were unable to do more than confine the flames, Bishop said.

House Speaker Martin Says He's Not Seeking Place On GOP Ticket

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 20, (AP) Fall River tried hard to be nonpartisan as it honored House Speaker Joseph Martin (R-Mass) with its biggest clambake today but Sen. Brewster (R-Me) injected a note of Republican presidential politics into the proceedings.

Brewster, himself a potiential "favorite son" candidate from Maine, told a crowd gathered at a local amusement park that "the end may not be yet" for Martin's politicl climb.

But the House Speaker, subscribing to the Democratic-directed efforts to keep politics submerged, told a reporter he is not and does not expect to become a candidate for the 1948 Republican presidential or vice-Presidential nomination.

"America would do well to consider one of this character and caliber with a knowledge of the governmental machine possessed by few men," Brewster said.

Martin's disclaimer of his possible candidacy, was not so sweeping that it eliminated him as a potential recipient of a Massachusetts Republican "favorite son" endorsement.

Martin avoided any reference to political matters in his talks, but telegrams from two potential Republican presidential candidates, added to the undercurrent of speculation.

Former Gov. Harold E. Stassen, of Minnesota, only announced GOP presidential candidate, called Martin "a Great American" whose "life story is an inspiration to every American boy."

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, regarded as a likely GOP presidential candidate, said Martin "sympobilzes the finest flower of representative government in our great republic."

A. T. & T. Will Borrow $354,000,000 For Expansion And Improvements

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—(AP)—American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the largest industrial empire in the world, plans to borrow more than $350,000,000 for still further expansion.

Such a deal would make financial history. Only the United States government borrows money on so vast a scale.

The company said it plans to use the money "to meet the continuing unprecedented demand for telephone service" and to improve existing facilities.

New instruments have been installed for months at a rate of around 25 per minute but more than 2,000,000 persons are still waiting for service.

Since June last year the company has borrowed $868,087,700, which added to today's proposal would lift total money requirements in less than two years well past the $1,000,000,000 level. No business ever has tried to borrow a comparable amount in so short a period.

Ownership of the telephone company is spread among some 710,000 individuals and institutions. They will be asked to approve the latest financing plan at a special stockholders meeting on October 15.

Directors recommended that a new issue of convertible debentures be offered to present stockholders in the ratio of $100 of debentures for each six shares of stock held. About 21,242,000 shares of capital stock now are outstanding out of an authorized 35,000,000. An annual dividend of $9 a share has been paid on the stock since 1921.

TRUMAN SEES RECORD SURPLUS

Says Congress Cuts Amounted To 1½ Billions

Puts Total Spending At $37,000,000,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP) — President Truman attributed a $1,500,000,000 saving to the Republican Congress today in a budget review which forecast that continued high prices, taxes, incomes and employment would produce the biggest Treasury surplus in history.

But the President said other factors, not counting new sums for foreign aid, will limit the reduction in government spending to $528,000,000 for the year ending next June 30. He put the total at $37,000,000,000.

In bringing the budget up to date Mr. Truman made it clear the administration will ask for more money for its international program and this might greatly alter his computations.

He indicated continued opposition to lowering taxes.

And he announced he has ordered all government agencies to keep their budgets below the ones under which they now operate. In some instances he has "established certain definite limitations."

In reviewing a budget he termed "hard-boiled" to start with, the Chief Executive was unable to say at this time how much the bill will be for further international assistance. With the totals subject to change because of that uncertainty, he predicted that in the current fiscal year ending next June 30:

Will Spend 37 Billions

1. The government will spend an even $37,000,000,000. This is $528,000,000 less than he estimated when he submitted his original budget to Congress in January.

2. Uncle Sam's income will be $41,667,000,000. This is $3,937,000,000 higher than the January calculation. The revision is based on "a continuance of employment, prices, and incomes close to their present levels throughout the fiscal year." Bigger individual income tax collections account for $2,100,000,000 of the boost.

3. The Treasury will show a surplus of $4,667,000,000—largest ever tallied—next June 30. The $258,000,000,000 national debt may be reduced to $253,000,000,000.

In view of unsettled world conditions and inflationary trends, Mr. Truman said it would be "reckless" to fail to have a substantial surplus.

He declared any leftover income and part of the Treasury's spare cash should be applied to the public debt. While he did not mention the issue of tax reduction directly, that evidently put him exactly in the position he took this summer when he vetoed two tax-cutting bills on grounds they came at the wrong time. Congress upheld the vetoes.

Truman, GOP Disagree

With a few digs, but no outspoken criticism, the President put his own figures up against GOP claims of savings as high as $6,000,000,000 or $7,000,000,000 in the last congressional session.

Democrats have been insisting many of the cuts the Republicans claimed were "phony." In any event, spending already has become a top campaign issue for 1948.

Mr. Truman recalled that his January budget estimated expenditures at $37,528,000,000. Subsequent additions and more in prospect, plus various technical changes, brought the amount up to $38,520,000,000.

The reduction of $1,520,000,000 attributed to Congress placed it at an even $37,000,000,000.

The President credited Congress with reaching the $1,520,000,000 figure this way:

It made total cuts of $2,661,000,000, offset by increases of $309,000,000. And since "Congress itself has recognized that some of its reductions, such as those for tax refunds and the Atomic Energy Commission, will have to be restored," it will have to cancel out another $832,000,000 of the reductions.

Besides this, Mr. Truman made it clear additional requests for funds to help other countries will reach Congress later on.

Still to be determined is the cost of Secretary of State Marshall's plan. It contemplates American assistance after various European nations, now meeting in Paris, have decided how much they can help themselves.

Britain Will Ration Its Trade Dollars

Convertibility Exchange Plan To Be Dropped

U. S. Foreign Trade Will Be Affected

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—(AP)—In an extraordinary emergency measure, Britain imposed tight rationing today over the dollars she has left for world trade—A step taken with United States approval to avert economic chaos.

Simultaneously, Sir Wilfred Eady, chief of a British financial mission here discussing modification of additional terms of the dwindling $3,750,000,000 loan, disclosed at a news conference that Britain:

1. May have to cut imports for home consumption even beyond the drastic restrictions which already have been announced.

2. Already has notified the United States of its intention to make another withdrawal from the $850,000,000 remaining of the loan. He declined to disclose the exact amount but said a reporter's speculation it would be in the neighborhood of $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 had "about hit it."

3. Will have to rewrite 25 to 30 trade agreements with other countries containing clauses calling for exchange of pounds into dollars.

"Run" Preceded Decision

Dispatches from London quoted Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton as figuring the balance of the British loan at $758,000,000, as compared to a Washington Treasury figure of $850,000,000. This may be explained by the possibility that Dalton included the new withdrawal which Eady said has been requested.

The agreement calls for at least a temporary halt in future withdrawals, but the British decision to tap the credit again could have been taken before the new plan was drafted.

The rationing of Britain's remaining dollars was put into effect by suspending temporarily the dollars-for-pounds free convertibility program—one of the conditions of the big loan.

Under the convertibility program Britain, in current trade transactions with countries maintaining a sterling pound balance in London, would change those pounds into dollars upon demand. Eady declared this was draining deeply Britain's own dollar resources because of the world "scramble" to obtain them for American purchases.

"This is no fun for us," he said grimly, and added that he knows it is going to be "no fun for this country" because it will affect American foreign trade directly.

A United States Treasury spokesman at another news conference said a "pretty big dollar run on the Bank of England" preceded the decision.

The convertibility, or dollars for pounds, exchange plan was designed to increase the flow of trade by removing financial barriers which tended to produce restrictive agreements in areas which dealth primarily in one currency or the other.

New Step Is Temporary

The agreement, announced simultaneously here and in London, made it plain that the new step is temporary in nature, and that it will not affect directly the payment of dollars for United States purchases by Britain itself.

In other words, Britain will continue to pay its American exports in dollars from what she has left from the loan, plus what she gets in return for her own sales here. In addition to a probable reduction of those imports, however, it will have another obvious impact on this country's foreign trade.

Under the suspension of the convertibility program between Britain and other countries, the latter will find themselves without an important source for obtaining the dollars with which to trade directly with this country.

Eady acknowledged, for example,

European Recovery Vital To Western Hemisphere Economy, Marshall Says

Takes Precedence Because Of Urgency

QUITANDINHA, Brazil, Aug. 20—Secretary of State Marshall told the Inter-American Conference today that the United States had assumed heavy economic burdens to meet the challenge of political and moral problems in a Europe "now threatened with starvation and economic chaos" and that "the economic rehabilitation of Europe is vital to the economy of this hemisphere."

In an obvious reply to persistent demands for a "Marshall Plan" for Latin American countries, the American Secretary pledged that the United States would continue to help Latin American countries to seek "a sound basis" for practical economic co-operation.

Marshall was given a thunderous applause at the end of his speech. Among his listeners was Senora Eva Duarte Peron, wife of the Argentine President.

State Exists For Man

Marshall included in his 1,100-word address an indirect reference to totalitarian states when he declared "we must reject encroachment upon the fundamental rights of the individual with the same determination that we reject any encroachment upon the fundamental rights of the state. I am confident that we all agree that the state exists for the man, not the man for the state—and that we abhor any limitations upon the freedom of expression of men throughout the world.

"For only when we have access to the thoughts of men, to the forces of public opinion free of coercion or connivance, only then can we develop a wholesome common interest while at the same time respecting separate national traditions."

Prior to his address before a plenary conference session, Marshall continued his "get acquainted talks" with various foreign ministers. Ricardo Alfero, of Panama, said his conference with Marshall centered around "the very disquieting international situation," and that "we agreed peace has not been consolidated in a way which people desire so as to really be free from fear."

Mutual Defense Main Concern

In his address, Marshall made clear that the United States feels that it is the sole business of the present conference to draw up the treaty for mutual defense and security contemplated by the Act of Chapultepec at Mexico City in 1945, and that economic considerations should be left over for the subsequent meeting in Bogota in January of next year.

"Today, at Rio de Janeiro, our concern is with mutual defense and security; tomorrow at Bogota we shall go on to reorganize and strengthen our inter-American system and to make it a more effective agency of co-operation in the pursuit of our common interest," he said.

Cuba has asked for a clause against "economic aggression" in the treaty. Argentine declarations have emphasized the importance which that country attaches to economic matters.

NAVY JET PLANE HITS 640.7 MILES AN HOUR FOR NEW WORLD MARK

MUROC, Calif., Aug. 20 (AP)—The Navy sent the jet-propelled D-558 Douglas Skystreak, piloted by a veteran combat flyer, bellowing four times over a three-kilometer course at an average of 640.7 miles an hour today to set a new international air speed record.

The stub-winged craft was piloted by Comdr. Turner F. Caldwell, 33, Arlington, Va., and by his streaking flight over this arid Mojave Desert Army air base he returned the air speed record to the Navy for the first time since Lt. Al Williams set a then prodigious 266.59 miles an hour record in a Curtis plane in 1933.

The Navy craft, an experimental job which will be turned over shortly to the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics for further tests, flew at 653.4 miles an hour on the fastest of its four flashing passes at the course.

The plane, in establishing the new mark, broke the record set a month ago by Army Col. Albert Boyd, who flew the course at 623.8 miles an hour in the Army Air Forces' Lockheed jet P-80-R.

U. S. Lays Balkan Problem Before Assembly Of U. N.

Observers' Recall Is Opposed By Lie

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 20 (AP) — The United States today placed the explosive Balkan problem before the 55-member United Nations Assembly after repeated Soviet vetoes had blocked action in the Security Council.

The new United States move came less than 24 hours after the council admitted its inability to solve the problem which had plagued the United Nations for more than 18 months.

Herschel V. Johnson, deputy United States delegate, proposed specifically that the Assembly act to halt "threats to the political independence and territorial integrity of Greece."

Secretary-General Trygve Lie assured him that the question would be placed on the provisional agenda of the Assembly, which meets in New York September 16.

Lie Rejects Soviet Demands

Earlier, Lie had taken a firm stand against Russian demands that the United Nations recall its team of observers from the Balkans.

Lie told a news conference that as far as he was concerned the subsidiary group of the Balkan Investigating Commission was in Greece on orders of the Security Council and was going to stay there until the council ordered it to leave.

As Secretary-General, Lie is the man who would have to take the initiative in recalling the group unless the council itself sent it a direct order.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko took the position yesterday that both the Balkan commission and its subsidiary group were automatically "liquidated" when his two vetoes killed the last proposals to solve the Balkan problem.

Russia, Poland May Withdraw

Council President Faris El Khoury, of Syria, backed by a majority of the council, contended that these groups would continue in-

150 Known Dead In Cadiz Disaster

CADIZ, Spain, Thursday, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Provincial Health Board announced today that the known dead in the Cadiz arsenal explosion totaled 150 and that about 30 bodies still had not been recovered from the ruins.

It appeared, however, that complete figures on the casualties from Monday night's explosion would not be tallied soon, if ever.

The health board said the total number of injured was 5,000. Of these, 250 were listed as having been injured "seriously" and several thousand as having suffered cuts, bruises and other superficial injuries from flying glass and falling debris.

Mayor Francisco Sanchez Cossio estimated the death toll probably would reach 200, with 4,000 injured while Cifra, the official Spanish news agency, said the injured totaled only 2,000.

Many of the seriously injured who died in hospitals in neighboring cities had not been counted in the official list of 168.

The bodies of many others had been taken away by friends or relatives as they were found, without being counted officially.

The first mass funeral services, attended by top government officials, were held at noon today for 113 victims killed in the explosion Monday night which shook down many structures and set fires causing other large loss of life.

Pressure Is Put On Unions To File Anti-Red Papers

NLRB May Toss Out Thousands Of Cases

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20, (AP) — Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, announced tonight that more than 3,000 cases before the board will be thrown out unless the unions involved register and file non-Communist affidavits within 20 days.

This ruling put new pressure on labor leaders to provide the documents called for in the Taft-Hartley law. There was not immediate comment from the CIO or AFL. Generally speaking, CIO unions had planned not to file.

Starting Friday, the new law will prohibit a union from using the services of the NLRB unless the union and its parent bodies have complied with the filing provisions.

Machinists Register

A large independent union, the International Association of Machinists, with 600,000 members, announced its registration today and made public that President Harvey M. Brown receives $12,000 a year, Secretary-Treasurer Eric Peterson, $10,000, and the resident vice president, Albert J. Hayes, $9,000.

The union said these salaries are the "lowest of any major labor organization."

Peterson wrote the department that the machinists have barred Communists from membership since 1925.

In another development, Edgar L. Warren, retiring director of the Federal Conciliation Service, urged in his final report that we avoid "renewed government interference and regulation." He said that labor and management have found this to be "a crutch upon which the parties rely, rather than helping them along the path to self government."

Disputes At Postwar Low

With government participation kept at a minimum, they can work out problems through collective bargaining, he contended.

"As I leave office," Warren said: "Labor disputes are at a postwar low."

Warren will be succeeded by Cyrus S. Ching, former industrial relations director for the United States Rubber Company.

Sales Tax Ruling Misinterpreted, Hammond States

Levy Can Be Figured On Total Purchases

BALTIMORE, Aug. 20 (AP)—Attorney General Hall Hammond said today as far as he is concerned buyers don't have to pay Maryland's new sales tax on each item when they make more than one purchase in a store—they can add up the prices and pay two per cent on that.

Hammond said Delegate Bernard S. Melnicove (D-Balto) apparently misinterpreted a ruling from the Attorney General's office when he expressed fears that Marylanders would have to figure the sales tax on each item when they made a multiple purchase.

Hammond explained his ruling had to do with the use of tax tokens to collect the two per cent. The same ruling advised the sales tax division that tokens cannot be used under the law as it stands now.

$1,115,700 Collected

Meantime, State Comptroller James J. Lacy reported on the basis of incomplete returns that the new tax law already has funneled $1,115,700 into the state treasury for July, its first month of operation.

Some 25,000 returns have come in, but ot even all of them have been tabulated. Some 8,000 more are expected.

The returns were due last Friday, but the collection division is making allowances because the blank forms didn't get out on time to the merchants who act as "collectors."

More than a hundred big houses have been granted extensions because they needed time to perfect bookkeeping arrangements and prepare their returns.

The forms already are out for the next monthly report, due September 15 on August business.

Lacy said today it is still impossible to guess intelligently what the state's income from the July sales tax will be.

Hammond Cites Rule

In expressing his informal opinion that buyers do not have to calculate the tax on individual items when they make multiple purchase, Attorney General Hammond cited Rule 3 of the comptroller's rules and regulations on the sales tax:

Because of the uncertainties of

House Speaker Martin Says He's Not Seeking Place On GOP Ticket

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 20, (AP) Fall River tried hard to be nonpartisan as it honored House Speaker Joseph Martin (R-Mass) with its biggest clambake today but Sen. Brewster (R-Me) injected a note of Republican presidential politics into the proceedings.

Brewster, himself a potiential "favorite son" candidate from Maine, told a crowd gathered at a local amusement park that "the end may not be yet" for Martin's politicl climb.

But the House Speaker, subscribing to the Democratic-directed efforts to keep politics submerged, told a reporter he is not and does not expect to become a candidate for the 1948 Republican presidential or vice-Presidential nomination.

"America would do well to consider one of this character and caliber with a knowledge of the governmental machine possessed by few men," Brewster said.

Martin's disclaimer of his possible candidacy, was not so sweeping that it eliminated him as a potential recipient of a Massachusetts Republican "favorite son" endorsement.

Martin avoided any reference to political matters in his talks, but telegrams from two potential Republican presidential candidates, added to the undercurrent of speculation.

Former Gov. Harold E. Stassen, of Minnesota, only announced GOP presidential candidate, called Martin "a Great American" whose "life story is an inspiration to every American boy."

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, regarded as a likely GOP presidential candidate, said Martin "sympobilzes the finest flower of representative government in our great republic."

EDITORIAL

State's Attorney's Office Continues To Suppress News

On numerous occasions during past months the thought must have occurred to readers of The Cumberland News that the gathering of news, especially that pertaining to crimes in which human lives have either been sacrificed or endangered, and other serious law violations, is sometimes difficult because of the lack of cooperation on the part of law enforcement agencies. Such a thought is correct.

We need only refer our readers to the story published yesterday morning which disclosed that an investigation is underway into the death on August 10, of John W. Foreman, Jr., World War II veteran.

The information on that investigation had to be gathered piece-meal by a reporter after the State's Attorney refused to confirm or deny that such a probe was underway. That attitude was carried so far as to refuse to listen to an account of information, bearing on the case, which has been assembled by a reporter independent of his office, by hanging up the receiver, and severing the telephone connection before that reporter could complete his recital.

We should point out that there has never been any attempt on the part of reporters of this newspaper at any time to be unfair and discourteous in their dealings with the State's Attorney's office, or any other law enforcement agency of the county or city, for that matter. Reporters have, at all times, sought to confirm information they have obtained and gathered outside of those agencies, and to write, as far as is humanly possible, factual accounts of details about whatever case might be being dealt with.

The public looks to newspapers for such information and the public has a right to expect that that information will be given it correctly. The State's Attorney's policy has been one of suppressing news, no matter what its nature, and he has made it quite clear to reporters that he does not intend to give Cumberland newspapers any information because he does not like their (the newspapers') attitudes.

We are at a loss to know of any attitude, except one of fairness, on our part, toward the State's Attorney's office. If he feels otherwise it has resulted from the fact that we have been able to give the public news, we believe it is entitled to, in spite of him. If that be the case we have no apologies to make to him or any other law enforcement agency in fulfilling an obligation to the readers of this newspaper.

As we have said, the State's Attorney's policy has been one of suppressing news, no matter what its nature, and in so doing ignores the fact that the public expects him to disclose through newspapers news from his office it considers it is entitled to. The State's Attorney may attempt to defend his position by stating that in giving information to newspapers his investigators will be handicapped in their work.

It has been our policy to respect any confidence which either the State's Attorney or police officials have placed in us, although we are frank to admit that, with some exceptions, the State's Attorney has even refused to go so far as to furnish us "off the record," and in confidence, any information we sought in connection with a case. We would not disclose any such information although we question very seriously that revealing so-called "confidential" facts would prevent the apprehension of the person or persons sought. A law violator, whether he be a thief, a rapist, a housebreaker, a hit and run driver or a killer, knows very well his act is not going unnoticed by the authorities, and that he is being sought, and will be caught, sooner or later.

The public expects newspapers to keep it informed, and this newspaper will continue to do just that. In the meantime, the public has a right to expect that co-operation will be forthcoming from any official it has elected to office to be its servant, whether or not he cares to think so.

Slump Delayed Clague Reports

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP) — There is not a thing in sight to show a depression is coming, Director Ewan Clague, of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said today.

Clague told a news conference that a summer slump predicted by some has been "indefinitely postponed."

Current high prices contain "nothing spectacular" of an economy-wrecking explosive nature, he observed.

Clague's agency keeps close watch on the business pulse through constant studies of employment, wages, hours of labor and prices.

Employment topped 60,000,000 in July for the second consecutive month—and even a drastic drop in exports would not mean a corresponding slump in employment, the official said.

Domestic demand, he declared, could "absorb a large part, if not all, of the difference." Only a "complete collapse" of the high export level could weaken the employment figures, Clague observed.

Unemployment reached a summer high of 2,600,000 but already has begun to recede, Clague said. He pointed to an increase in housing activity as a factor in sustaining the employment level.

July's unemployment was 300,000 above that of July, 1946, and the increase was concentrated among teen agers, indicating boys just out of school found it harder to connect with jobs than last year, he said.

Clague noted that only five industries showed downward trends in employment attributable to other than seasonal factors — machine tools, furniture, radios and phonographs, tires and tubes, and aluminum manufacturing.

HANGAR AND 15 PLANES ARE DESTROYED BY FIRE AT MORGANTOWN, W. Va.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Aug. 20—(AP)—Fire of undetermined origin swept the municipal hangar at the Morgantown airport shortly after 6 p. m., EST, today and Assistant Airport Manager Ralph Bishop said that both the structure and 15 planes inside were a total loss.

Bishop could give no immediate estimate of the damage, but he explained that the planes destroyed were of various sizes and classes.

No injuries were reported.

The city was struck by a brief electrical storm about the time the blaze was discovered. Morgantown firemen were summoned, but were unable to do more than confine the flames, Bishop said.

A. T. & T. Will Borrow $354,000,000 For Expansion And Improvements

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—(AP)—American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the largest industrial empire in the world, plans to borrow more than $350,000,000 for still further expansion.

Such a deal would make financial history. Only the United States government borrows money on so vast a scale.

The company said it plans to use the money "to meet the continuing unprecedented demand for telephone service" and to improve existing facilities.

New instruments have been installed for months at a rate of around 25 per minute but more than 2,000,000 persons are still waiting for service.

Since June last year the company has borrowed $868,087,700, which added to today's proposal would lift total money requirements in less than two years well past the $1,000,000,000 level. No business ever has tried to borrow a comparable amount in so short a period.

Ownership of the telephone company is spread among some 710,000 individuals and institutions. They will be asked to approve the latest financing plan at a special stockholders meeting on October 15.

Directors recommended that a new issue of convertible debentures be offered to present stockholders in the ratio of $100 of debentures for each six shares of stock held. About 21,242,000 shares of capital stock now are outstanding out of an authorized 35,000,000. An annual dividend of $9 a share has been paid on the stock since 1921.

Indonesians See New Dutch Drive On Their Capital

Van Mook Denounces Republican Leaders

BATAVIA, Java, Aug. 20, (AP) — Indonesian leaders prepared today to abandon their capital in anticipation of renewed full-scale war with the Dutch as the Netherlands Governor General bitterly charged the Indonesians with a two-year record of "murder, arson and torture."

Members of the Indonesian Cabinet met in Jogjakarta with top military leaders, who made no secret of the fact they believe the Dutch will launch a drive soon to capture the interior capital city of the republic. A mountain fortress in Sumatra was seen as the possible new capital.

Van Mook Blasts Republic

Dr. Hubertus J. Van Mook, the Dutch Governor General of the Netherlands East Indies, announced in a radio broadcast here that Indonesian authority over the rich regions of Sumatra and Madoera occupied by Dutch troops since July 21 would not again be recognized by the Dutch.

In the sharpest criticism he has ever voiced of the republic, Van Mook declared the Netherlands cannot indefinitedly continue to leave the way open for the republic to "change its attitudes and methods."

Neutral observers in Batavia said his remarks possible presaged a drive on Jogjakarta. Dutch military and civil officials are reported to have recommended such action to the home government in The Hague. (A dispatch from the Netherlands capital said the Cabinet met in another emergency session to consider the Dutch-Indonesian conflict).

Vice Supreme Commander Named

The Indonesian Cabinet appointed Vice President Mohammed Hatta as vice supreme commander of the Indonesian armed forces. He is in Bukittinngi, a mountain stronghold in Sumatra, and would automatically assume formal leadership of both the civil government and armed forces if President Soekarno should be unable to function as the chief executive and supreme commander.

The Cabinet prepared to transfer all the functions of the central government to Sumatra.

Melnicove said he still wanted "to get this business of individual sales cleared up."

Two Punjab Cities Wrecked By Riots

LAHORE, Pakistan, Aug. 20 (AP)—Maj. Gen. T. W. Rees, commanding a joint military border force here, said today he believes underground leaders are waging a systematic program of extermination in riot-torn Punjab where the best compliations indicate thousands of Indians have been killed since August 11.

Fighting has stopped in Lahore, former capital of Junjab Province, and in neighboring Amritsar, across the border of the divided province in Hindu India, the second major trouble spot.

But Lahore's Moslems have slain or driven away the vast majority of the Hindu and Sikh population which once represented about half the population of this city of 500,000.

In Amritsar the Sikhs and Hindus have killed or driven out practically all Moslems who once composed about half the population of 500,000 there.

This extermination and enforced exchange of populations between Hindu India and Moslem Pakistan has been attended by a fury never witnessed in all the preceding months and has left the two cities looking like battlefields.

A tour of Amritsar disclosed street after street of buildings ruined as though in an air raid. Broad sections of the city are nothing but heaps of brick and debris as high as a man's head. Smoke still curled from the ruins, and here and there a blaze still crackled. Vultures perched on cracked walls, and a stench hung over wide areas.

A similar picture is presented by Lahore, where demnants of walls totter amid ruins that might have been churned by shellfire.

Foreman showed none of these symptoms, according to Dr. Williams.

Clerk Free On Bond; Matron's Death Probed

CHICAGO, Aug. 20 (AP)—A 38-year-old shipping clerk who said he spent last weekend with an attractive matron in her apartment obtained his freedom on bond today while coroner's physicians attempted to determine the cause of the woman's death.

Lloyd Fred Martens appeared at police headquarters last night and dictated a statement, which he signed, describing drinking sprees and sexual relations with Mrs. Celeste Sell, 39, who died Monday of unknown causes nine hours after she was found nude and unconscious in her Lake Shore Drive home.

As Martens unfolded his story, the woman's husband, Francis, who said he never suspected there was another man in her life, sat nearby, expressionless.

Martens had been held without charge pending determination of the cause of death. An inquest was continued to September 19 to await a chemical analysis of Mrs. Sell's vital organs.

Prosecutor To Reopen State's Case In Overell Murder Trial On Monday

SANTA ANA, Calif., Aug. 20 (AP)—Prosecutor Eugene Williams announced in court today he will reopen the state's case in the Overell murder trial next Monday, after Judge Kenneth E. Morrison ordered stricken all testimony regarding a ball-peen hammer found aboard the yacht Mary E.

The court granted a defense motion to strike testimony about the hammer, a rusty implement found in the engine room of the yacht by officers who searched the craft a few days after dynamite blew it to the bottom of Newport harbor March 15.

Williams protested and was told by the court that he might offer further evidence about the hammer if he so desired. Williams said he "most certainly" would do so.

The state rested last Monday after the jury completed reading more than 10,000 words of correspondence contained in 15 letters penned in jail by the defendants, Heiress Louise Overell, 18, and her lover, George (Bud) Gollum, 21.

They are charged with murdering her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overell, aboard the yacht.

Williams told reporters he will call 10 or 12 more witnesses as a result of the court's ruling, and that the state's case probably will be prolonged for another two weeks.

Miss Overell's attorney announced he will immediately appeal to the State Supreme Court to quash a grand jury indictment charging her with murder, but that if her current trial continues she will take the witness stand.

Otto Jacobs, the 18-year-old heiress' chief counsel, made his announcements after several defense rebuffs in attempts to strike references to Louise from prosecution testimony.

Indonesians See New Dutch Drive On Their Capital

Van Mook Denounces Republican Leaders

BATAVIA, Java, Aug. 20, (AP) — Indonesian leaders prepared today to abandon their capital in anticipation of renewed full-scale war with the Dutch as the Netherlands Governor General bitterly charged the Indonesians with a two-year record of "murder, arson and torture."

Members of the Indonesian Cabinet met in Jogjakarta with top military leaders, who made no secret of the fact they believe the Dutch will launch a drive soon to capture the interior capital city of the republic. A mountain fortress in Sumatra was seen as the possible new capital.

Van Mook Blasts Republic

Dr. Hubertus J. Van Mook, the Dutch Governor General of the Netherlands East Indies, announced in a radio broadcast here that Indonesian authority over the rich regions of Sumatra and Madoera occupied by Dutch troops since July 21 would not again be recognized by the Dutch.

In the sharpest criticism he has ever voiced of the republic, Van Mook declared the Netherlands cannot indefinitely continue to leave the way open for the republic to "change its attitudes and methods."

Neutral observers in Batavia said his remarks possible presaged a drive on Jogjakarta. Dutch military and civil officials are reported to have recommended such action to the home government in The Hague. (A dispatch from the Netherlands capital said the Cabinet met in another emergency session to consider the Dutch-Indonesian conflict).

Vice Supreme Commander Named

The Indonesian Cabinet appointed Vice President Mohammed Hatta as vice supreme commander of the Indonesian armed forces. He is in Bukittinngi, a mountain stronghold in Sumatra, and would automatically assume formal leadership of both the civil government and armed forces if President Soekarno should be unable to function as the chief executive and supreme commander.

The Cabinet prepared to transfer all the functions of the central government to Sumatra.

Sales made 'on the same occasion' means the combined sales to the purchaser in any place of business, whether or not on different counters or in different departments, on any one business day."

Melnicove said he still wanted "to get this business of individual sales cleared up."

Two Punjab Cities Wrecked By Riots

LAHORE, Pakistan, Aug. 20 (AP)—Maj. Gen. T. W. Rees, commanding a joint military border force here, said today he believes underground leaders are waging a systematic program of extermination in riot-torn Punjab where the best compliations indicate thousands of Indians have been killed since August 11.

Fighting has stopped in Lahore, former capital of Junjab Province, and in neighboring Amritsar, across the border of the divided province in Hindu India, the second major trouble spot.

But Lahore's Moslems have slain or driven away the vast majority of the Hindu and Sikh population which once represented about half the population of this city of 500,000.

In Amritsar the Sikhs and Hindus have killed or driven out practically all Moslems who once composed about half the population of 500,000 there.

This extermination and enforced exchange of populations between Hindu India and Moslem Pakistan has been attended by a fury never witnessed in all the preceding months and has left the two cities looking like battlefields.

A tour of Amritsar disclosed street after street of buildings ruined as though in an air raid. Broad sections of the city are nothing but heaps of brick and debris as high as a man's head. Smoke still curled from the ruins, and here and there a blaze still crackled. Vultures perched on cracked walls, and a stench hung over wide areas.

A similar picture is presented by Lahore, where demnants of walls totter amid ruins that might have been churned by shellfire.

Dr. Williams said that during the entire time Foreman was in the hospital he made great physical efforts to fight off the chemical attacks being made on his body and tried hard to co-operate with physicians and nurses, but added that at no time did he indicate that he had taken poison.

Usually, the doctor said, when patients attempt to commit suicide and then regret their actions, they freely explain the method they have used and the agent taken.

Foreman showed none of these symptoms, according to Dr. Williams.

Clerk Free On Bond; Matron's Death Probed

CHICAGO, Aug. 20 (AP) — A 38-year-old shipping clerk who said he spent last weekend with an attractive matron in her apartment obtained his freedom on bond today while coroner's physicians attempted to determine the cause of the woman's death.

Lloyd Fred Martens appeared at police headquarters last night and dictated a statement, which he signed, describing drinking sprees and sexual relations with Mrs. Celeste Sell, 39, who died Monday of unknown causes nine hours after she was found nude and unconscious in her Lake Shore Drive home.

As Martens unfolded his story, the woman's husband, Francis, who said he never suspected there was another man in her life, sat nearby, expressionless.

Martens had been held without charge pending determination of the cause of death. An inquest was continued to September 19 to await a chemical analysis of Mrs. Sell's vital organs.

Prosecutor To Reopen State's Case In Overell Murder Trial On Monday

SANTA ANA, Calif., Aug. 20 (AP)—Prosecutor Eugene Williams announced in court today he will reopen the state's case in the Overell murder trial next Monday, after Judge Kenneth E. Morrison ordered stricken all testimony regarding a ball-peen hammer found aboard the yacht Mary E.

The court granted a defense motion to strike testimony about the hammer, a rusty implement found in the engine room of the yacht by officers who searched the craft a few days after dynamite blew it to the bottom of Newport harbor March 15.

Williams protested and was told by the court that he might offer further evidence about the hammer if he so desired. Williams said he "most certainly" would do so.

The state rested last Monday after the jury completed reading more than 10,000 words of correspondence contained in 15 letters penned in jail by the defendants, Heiress Louise Overell, 18, and her lover, George (Bud) Gollum, 21.

They are charged with murdering her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overell, aboard the yacht.

Williams told reporters he will call 10 or 12 more witnesses as a result of the court's ruling, and that the state's case probably will be prolonged for another two weeks.

Miss Overell's attorney announced he will immediately appeal to the State Supreme Court to quash a grand jury indictment charging her with murder, but that if her current trial continues she will take the witness stand.

Otto Jacobs, the 18-year-old heiress' chief counsel, made his announcements after several defense rebuffs in attempts to strike references to Louise from prosecution testimony.

Just Politics—That's All "Conspiracies" Drive Will Be

President Truman has followed up Attorney General Clark's headline-hunting announcement of a drive against "conspiracies" to raise prices with a statement of his belief that such a drive will produce results. This is hardly surprising, since Mr. Clark would not have made his announcement without the prior approval of his chief.

Certainly there can be no public opposition to continuing efforts by the Justice Department to enforce the laws against price-fixing. That is part of the department's job. But the implication of the Clark statement, issued before the investigation was ordered, was that "conspiracies" actually exist and that the Truman Administration, like a doughty St. George, is setting out to slay the dragon.

If Mr. Clark had consulted the Department of Commerce, whose job it is to keep tabs on prices and their causes, he would have learned that recent studies show the biggest price rises have not come in big industry—the special target of the Sherman Act—but in the field of small enterprise. Had he consulted any non-labor economist, or any reasonably informed man in the street, he could have learned that current soaring prices are due mainly to terrific increase in the cost of raw materials, the rising wage scale and the world-wide shortage of materials and goods of almost every description. Today the demand exceeds the supply in practically all commodities. When a manufacturer or seller can practically name his own price, he does not need to conspire in violation of the law to keep prices up.

By all means, let Mr. Clark carry on his investigation, provided he really investigates and does not spend all his time hurling vague charges about the economic landscape. It may be interesting to note, however, that when Mr. Clark was issuing his blast, John F. Sonnett, new head of the anti-trust division, was starting out on his vacation.

Modern press agents, such as Johnny Meyer, have improved their technique. No midgets were placed in Senator Brewster's lap.

Too Many Americans Are Found To Be Uninformed

When Dr. George Gallup set out a few days ago to find out what the public thought of the flying disks, he found out something else, too; something which is quite disturbing. It is the knack Americans have for knowing all about inconsequential things while ignoring really important affairs.

The Gallup survey, which appeared in this newspaper last Friday morning, revealed that nine out of every ten Americans not only knew about the flying disks but had definite opinions on them. Yet at the same time only half the people had heard about the Marshall Plan and only 60 per cent had heard or read about the Taft-Hartley Bill. Last January a poll showed that eight out of ten voters did not know what the Wagner Act contained, although it has been a law for ten years.

The fault is not with the newspapers. The press of the country devoted far more columns of space to the Marshall Plan and the Taft-Hartley bill than it did to the flying disks. Those two exceedingly important issues were almost constantly on the front page for months, often getting eight-column headlines.

The trouble was that so many Americans didn't take the time to read the stories. They gobbled down items on the flying disks and passed over world-shaking events. Yet many of these same Americans, entirely ignorant of the facts, were and are willing to set themselves up as authorities and praise or condemn the Marshall Plan or the Taft-Hartley Act. That is why you hear so many crazy curbstone opinions about them today. It is why people who do know about those subjects and who are propagandizing for a cause can sway their fellow citizens with deliberate misinterpretations of the truth.

This is only one example of a serious defect in our national character. Americans pride themselves on their form of government, yet too few of them keep abreast of developments and many of them do not even take the trouble to qualify themselves as voters. The best guarantee of freedom is an informed and enlightened public.

California couple, divorced 10 years, has remarried. If this becomes a trend, the accusation may soon be heard that divorce is a failure.

Lee Situation In Europe Should Have Been Detected

Several days ago Robert S. Allen, pinch-hitting for Drew Pearson, in The Washington Merry-Go-Round, which appears daily in this newspaper, cited the fact that a special congressional committee will make an on-the-scene study of the case involving Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, who has, apparently been conducting the Mediterranean Theatre of Operation in a high-handed manner for some time.

It is hard to understand, sometimes, why so many abuses go uncorrected until a newspaperman comes along and discovers them. Why is it necessary to spread a sorry story where all can see it before anything is done to correct conditions? Hasn't anyone but Mr. Pearson and Mr. Allen noticed it? Hasn't the War Department, or Congress, any method of checking up on conditions like that and correcting them before they become a national and international scandal.

Of course, a number of probes are being launched—now. Routine investigations of all big operators, especially abroad, should be made from time to time, just to see that all is going well.

If the probes substantiate the charges about Lt. Gen. Lee that Mr. Allen dealt with in his column, the GI's in the Mediterranean Theatre doubtless will get better treatment and the government may be saved some money. That will be a gain for the future.

But the past is irretrievable. And, to effect the reforms, the cat had to be let out of the bag for all to see. Including our Russian allies, who will make a tiger out of it.

Elliott Roosevelt's reputation was not an issue in the congressional hearings, as he charged. It had already been established.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

PEPTIC ULCER TREATMENT

A 60 YEAR old woman asked recently if she could develop peptic ulcer. She was told that no age group is exempt but since the 20-40 age group is more susceptible, her chances were slight. In addition, men are affected more often than women except among teen-agers and young adults when a greater number of girls become victims.

Peptic ulcers are so named because our forefathers thought that peptic digestion of the wall of the gastric pouch was responsible. This concept has been disproved but modern scientists have not done too well in offering a substitute. They have many explanations as to why the tiny craters form but none is foolproof. The lesions may appear in the gastric pouch (stomach ulcers) or in the first part of the intestine (duodenal ulcers.)

Many sufferers have a highstrung, nervous, worrisome temperament which makes them prone to emotional upsets. This may affect the acidity of the stomach, increase the churning motions, or disturb the circulation to a tiny spot in the wall which in turn breaks down the ulcerates.

Since there are so many factors working against the victim, he must make sacrifices if he expects to get well. This situation may not be evident to a new case because diet plus alkalis will produce dramatic results. But recurrences are customary unless a hygienic regimen is followed. Furthermore, each bout may become more difficult to handle so that treatment which helped in the beginning may not prove effective years later. This is not a hard and fast rule, as some are cured the first time and never have any more trouble. Others go for years between attacks. On the other hand, symptoms may appear once or twice a year and in a few, complications such as hemorrhage, perforation, or obstruction will ensue.

The best results are obtained in patients who look beyond the diet and medication stages and take stock of their daily activities. They must try to overcome inward tension. By organizing their duties they frequently can do as much or more work than before but with half the stress and strain. This is not always easy but it is surprising how much progress can be made by planning and determination.

Ulcer management still includes diet and alkalis. The Sippy powders are giving way gradually to the aluminum preparations. Antispasmodics in the form of atropine and belladona are also helpful as well as mild sedatives to reduce undue tension. Among the newer treatments are the use of amino acids in the form of predigested protein. Reports on their efficiency vary but when given in large amounts they may not only relieve symptoms but make up the nitrogen deficit which is so important in healing. There are many products of this type on the market, but the majority have an objectionable taste, especially when consumed day afer day. Enterogastrone and urogastrone are another pair of new comers. These hormones are still in the experimental stage and more time will be necessary for proper evaluation. In some instances, however, they have given complete and rapid relief.

The latest surgical approach is vagotomy in which the nerves to the stomach are severed. This in turn lessens the motility of the organ as well as the percentage of acid secreted. The effect has been excellent, but it is wise to try conservative remedies first. Occasionally, distress is such that a portion of the stomach must be removed or an ingenious operation done so that the food is rerouted around the ulcerated area.

Mrs. A. writes: What is the cause of pyloric spasm or pyloric stenosis in a newborn? Each of my children has been the victim of one or the other.

REPLY

These two disorders involve the same structure, the outlet of the stomach. In pylorospasm, the muscle is tense but capable of relaxing, thru the use of drugs. In stenosis, the obstruction is permanent due to a peculiarity of the muscle growth. Operation is usually required.

EFFECT OF ALCOHOL

G. N. writes: Do alcoholic drinks destroy the red blood corpuscles?

REPLY

No, but if alcohol is substituted for food, anemia and vitamin deficiency can result.

INEFFECTIVE

A. R. writes: I have been advised that athlete's foot can be cured with the sulfa drugs or penicillin. Is this true?

REPLY

I do not know where you obtained your information but in general these preparations have proved disappointing in ringworm of the foot.

TENDER EAR

Mrs. S. writes: When I lie on my left side that ear aches severely. What causes this?

REPLY

Apparently the ear is tender as a result of infection or injury. A thoro search will undoubtedly reveal the true cause.

Says ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Former Nebraska Governor Dwight Griswold didn't have long to wait to learn he has a man-sized job on his hands coping with the ultra-reactionary Greek Government in administering the Truman doctrine.

It's still an official secret, but several days after Griswold arrived in Athens the Greek Government blandly informed him that the country's food reserves were completely exhausted.

Such a "crisis," obviously, could be due only to two causes: Gross incompetence and carelessness, or deliberate pressure tactics. Confidential diplomatic dispatches indicate there are ample reasons to believe both factors were at the bottom of the affair. After a hurried check-up, Griswold established that the Greek Government was not lying. There literally was no food in its larder.

The situation was ominous. The U. S. was now officially in Greece. If food riots broke out, the reverberations could be catastrophic not only in Greece but throughout all of Europe.

The Communists would be able to scream their favorite refrain about the "folly of trusting democracies."

Griswold acted fast and decisively. And, for once, so did the State Department.

Upon his telephonic demand for an immediate emergency food shipment, State officials rushed to the War Department which, in turn, diverted two shiploads of flour enroute to Germany. The ships, on the high seas with 20,000 tons of flour, were wirelessed to change their course and rush to Greece.

Thanks to this fortuitous improvisation, the ominous crisis was averted. But insiders aware of the characted of the Greek government fear it won't be long before other and perhaps worse "hot potatoes" pop up.

Note: Griswold's staff is heavily Nebraskan. His deputy, Roy Cochran, is another former Governor, and other assistants are Dr. William Snyder, ex-state veterinarian, Kenneth Kellar, crack political reporter, and Arthur Dobson, successful Lincoln contractor.

New Coolidge

Massachusetts' GOP has a new Coolidge who is just as earthy, cautious and parsmonious with words and money as the late President Calvin Coolidge.

He is Lt. Governor Arthur W. Coolidge, fourth cousin of "Silent Cal."

Like his famed kin, Arthur also was formerly President of the Bay State senate, another of Calvin's stepping stones to the White House. While somewhat older than Cal when he was Lieutenant Governor Arthur resembles him in many respects, particularly in economy-mindedness.

Illustrative of this was an incident that occurred the first day Arthur took over the State's reins during a brief absence of Governor Robert Bradford. Looking out of the window, the acting governor observed the water-sprinkling system operating full force on the capital grounds. It was an overcast day, and suddenly a brisk summer shower broke. The sprinklers kept right on going.

Coolidge immediately telephoned the building superintendent and demanded, "Why waste the taxpayers' money watering grass when the Good Lord is doing it for nothing? Shut off those sprinklers."

They were, forthwith.

Note: On another occasion, the Lieutenant Governor was luncheon host to a group of politicoes and reporters at the Boston City Club. They were handed menus presenting an enticing array of succulent a la carte selections. But before his guest could start ordering, Coolidge broke in dryly with, "Waiter, I'll have The Luncheon Special." The Luncheon Special cost 90 cents.

Our Fair City

One of the most difficult and obstinate barriers to efficient and progressive municipal government is the obstructionism of rural-controlled state legislatures. Our Fair City, best-selling expose of municipal misrule, points out that this obstructionism is no mere accident.

"The stranglehold that state legislatures have long kept on our cities," the book declares, "is one of the major instrumentalities by means of which predatory political and other interests oppose every effort to liberate our cities from their hamstringing bonds."

One of the chief reasons why this widespread problem is so serious is that the average voter doesn't realize how vitally it affects him.

In an effort to drive this point home, one of the country's great newspaper publishers is waging a unique educational campaign. He is James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio, 1920 Democratic presidential candidate, and owner of outstanding newspapers in Dayton, O., Atlanta, Ga. and Miami, Fla.

In a series of smashing articles, Cox's newsmen are explaining in detail to their readers exactly how the dead hand of state legislatures is blocking good municipal rule. The public-spirited crusade has proved so effective that it is being hailed "the spearhead of the revolt of the cities."

Note: S. Stanwood Menken, hale 77-year-old Wall Street attorney and veteran civic reform campaigner, has launched a movement for a "State of The Union" conference of municipal leaders to formulate a nationwide drive for better city government.

Means Of Averting Disaster In World Now Under Discussion

By MARK SULLIVAN

Toward the application for financial aid which representatives of Britain are making to our government at Washington this week, some of our officials are stiff. This attitude is natural enough, based on the simple facts.

A year and six weeks ago we loaned Britain 3¾ billion dollars. At the time, both Britain and the United States believed that this would take care of Britain's needs for 5 years, it was stipulated that she would begin to repay in 1951. But now it turns out that the money is almost exhausted, by October none will be left. It is not surprising if some of our officials take the natural attitude of a lender asking for explanation from a borrower who wants more.

But another group of our officials, thoroughly informed and sincere almost to the point of frantic anxiety, say that further aid to Britain is an urgent necessity, and an immediate one. The aid must be given, they say, in a matter of weeks—or else. The "or else" they fear is not only collapse of Britain but collapse of the whole world—that universal collapse of the capitalist system which Russia talks about and expects, and out of which she hopes to bring about a Communist world.

Collapse of Britain Threatens Plan

To prevent the world from falling under Communism and Russian domination, to save as much as possible of it for democracy and free enterprise, is the purpose of our whole foreign policy. To carry out that purpose we set up the Marshall Plan for recovery of the countries of Western Europe. But the Marshall Plan takes time, it will be several weeks before the European countries can take the preliminary steps, and weeks more before Congress can provide the necessary money. Meanwhile, unexpected and dismaying, comes imminent threats of collapse of Britain, which would make the Marshall Plan futile, which of itself would throw the world into prostration.

The main reason for the immediacy of the British need has to do with the pound and the dollar, and their relative values. Most of the trade of the world is carried on in these currencies, more in the pound than in the dollar. During the war Britain, quite reasonably, restricted much of her trade to pounds, her dependencies could carry on transactions only in that currency. As a result many countries accumulated great quantities of pounds.

Restrictions to the use of pounds would be, in a normal after post-war recovery, an unhealthy condition. To end it Britain and the United States agreed, as a stipulation of the loan we made her a year ago, that after a reasonable time Britain should make pounds interchangeable with dollars. A reasonable time was defined as one year—after July of the present year England would give dollars to countries having pounds if they so desired. To do this was a large part of the purpose of the 3¾ billion dollars we loaned her. Britain lived up to the agreement, last July she began to give dollars for pounds.

But in the intervening year, unexpected conditions arose. Britain did not recover to the extent expected and hence had a limited amount of goods to sell to the world. Other countries that wanted goods had therefore little use for the pounds they had accumulated.

But every country had much use for dollars. We were the one country producing goods, especially food, for sale to the rest of the world. The world wanted what we produced and wanted dollars to pay for it. They drew on Britain's stock of dollars so rapidly that it came toward an end.

World-Wide Collapse Not Impossible

If Britain should be obliged now to say to the world: "We cannot give you dollars for your pounds" there is serious possibility that the world might begin to question the value and safety of the pound. If the pound should begin to lose purchasing power, it might lead to world-wide collapse, including large areas of famine. The danger is illustrated by India.

India has vast amounts in pounds. At present she can change her pounds into dollars, and with the dollars buy the food and other goods she must have. If she could no longer change her pounds into dollars, prostration might result. This example of India is duplicated with variations in other countries. The whole result might be the world-wide economic collapse that Russia has predicted and been waiting for.

Means of averting disaster are being discussed this week at Washington and will be discussed more fully when Secretary of the Treasury Snyder goes to London in September. One suggestion is that the United States should agree to some plan by which we would take over the burden of keeping the pound and the dollar interchangeable.

Truman Engages In What Is Termed Intimidation With NLRB

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Word has leaked out that Mr. Truman engaged in what has been called by some observers "intimidation" in a recent conference with members of the National Labor Relations Board whom he had just appointed. Labor-union publications have been referring gleefully to the episode and have noted that Mr. Truman warned the three new labor relations board members that he did not have to reappoint them next January after their recess appointments expire. This was in connection with another statement by the President that the board was considered by him an "executive" agency responsible to him.

The implication was that, since Congress had declined to confirm the new members of the board and would in effect watch them in the next several months, so also could the President do some watching and refuse to send in the nominations when Congress reconvened.

The International Association of Machinists, in a statement by its president in the union's weekly newspaper, declared that a small group in Congress, led by Senator Ball of Minnesota, has "seized control over the supposedly impartial machinery of the new National Labor Relations Board and are using it in a campaign to break up trade unions in this country."

Mr. Truman is reported to have said it was all right for the reorganized NLRB to "cooperate" with the congressional committee but that it should interpret the new Taft-Hartley Act itself and ignore all attempts at dictation. It was presumably at this point that the President interjected his remark about what he could do with respect to reappointments.

Such Intimidation Rare

Nothing of this sort of intimidation has come in a long time from the White House—not, in fact, since the days of President Coolidge, who appointed a member of a federal board and asked him to leave his signed resignation with the President at the same time.

Mr. Truman's action in endeavoring to pass judgment on the extent to which a congressional committee may or may not confer with members of a federal board or investigate its rulings is a surprising usurpation of power.

Another incident of this kind occurred in the Roosevelt administration about four years ago, when the treasury department, acting on White House orders, refused to furnish certain data needed by congressional committees with respect to the operation of the tax laws. Congress finally passed a law specifically requiring the Bureau of Internal Revenue to furnish to a joint committee of Congerss regularly certain data about tax rulings and decisions and the background thereof. It went further and, under a law still in effect, the Bureau of Internal Revenue must submit for the examination of the staff of the joint congressional committee on internal revenue all awards for refunds of taxes in excess of $75,000. When they are cleared by the joint committee, they are then put through the final process for authorization of payment. The staff of the committee keeps a man at the Bureau of Internal Revenue almost all the time.

Congress has the right to tell any board or commission what it shall do with its information. The joint committee on internal revenue does not, of course, attempt to influence rulings, but it often confers with representatives of the bureau after rulings have been made and makes concrete suggestions as to how various types of problems may be handled. The bureau can, if it likes, disregard the suggestions, and Congress can legislate on them if it likes.

The new Taft-Hartley law sets up the joint committee on labor-management relations, consisting of seven members of each House who are members of the House and Senate labor committees, respectively. The law specifically says the committee, acting as a whole or by subcommittee, "shall conduct a thorough study and investigation of the entire field of labor-management relations, including but not limited to . . . The administration and operation of existing federal laws relating to labor relations . . . The internal organization and administration of labor unions . . . The means by which permanent friendly cooperation between employers and employees and stability of labor relations may be secured throughout the United States."

New Board Members Fearful

If, as a result of Mr. Truman's orders, the new National Labor Relations Board members are afraid to confer with the joint committee and its staff and to discuss their problems and experiences frankly because of a fear that they may not be reappointed, then Congress will be thwarted in its efforts to find out how the law is actually operating so that proper amendments can be ligislated. It will then be Mr. Truman who will be held responsible for attempting to sabotage the new labor law as well as congressional efforts to get the facts. A withdrawal of the threat against reappointment will be necessary if Mr. Truman is to get any of the new members confirmed by the Senate in January, for it will be assumed that they are taking orders from him instead of from the mandate of the law in its relation to the joint congressional committee's duties

THESE DAYS

By George E. Sokolsky

THE essence of Statism is government by bureaucracy. An elite group, having possessed itself of power by one means or another, governs according to its will and its judgment on the general principle that those who are qualified know what is best for everybody. They set up their own qualifications and declare themselves as fitting all requirements. They have no doubts as to their own perfection.

Essentially, this concept is not new. Pythagoras and Plato held it and every so-called benevolent despot assumed it. Dr. Sun Yat-sen, for instance, conceived of the Kuomintang as holding the Chinese people in tutelage until such a time as they could govern themselves. such a time has not yet arrived 22 years after his death. The Communist party in Russia maintains an oligarchial despotism with the object of eventually establishing a democracy. Even in the United States, many of the younger New Dealers, particularly those fresh out of college, where they majored in government, believed that they were more qualified, by a Phi Beta Kappa key or something, to decide the course of their country than were members of Congress elected by the people.

Yet, the essence of the American system is representative government. Those who wrote the Constitution made no rigid qualifications as to the representatives. They could be lawyers, doctors, clergymen, shoemakers, philosophers, prohibitionists, drunkards. They might be experts in government or not able to read or write. They might be broad-minded or bigotted; they could be of any political party, religious denomination, social condition or economic status. The Constitution avoids such qualifications because the objective of the system is that the people shall choose such representatives for themselves as they please.

During the past decade, a pronounced and determined effort has been made to heap ridcule upon the Congress of the United States and to bring it into contempt. The general technique is to generalize from the particular, to select some grotesque or unpopular member one whose personal conduct lends itself to abuse, buslesque and ridicule, to heap upon him mountains of abuse, and then to attempt to create the impression that the Congress is no good because it is all like that. Many, who are opposed to totalitarianism, have fallen for this technique and have permitted themselves to become parties to it. Vested interests in danger seize upon this propaganda to aid their special purposes.

I, myself, have roared with laughter at "Senator Claghorn" on the radio. Admittedly, he is funny. But C'laghorn, as a theatrical character, has brought upon Congress an unwarranted ridicule. Never once has Claghorn been anything out ridiculous; never once has he been kindly, understanding, or service to his country. He has been an unmitigated blowhard instead of a hard-working legislator with a tendency to speak loudly and punctuate aggressively. He has talked stupidly, but never is he the author of important legislation. Claghorn is not a cartoon of any man in the United Senate; he is a burlesque of the legislative process.

This ridicule of Congress reached its apogee in the Barsky-Dennis-Eisler hearings. These men held a Committee of Congress in contempt because they objected to one member of it. In a word, not the citizens of their district are to determine who is to represent them, but a group of New Yorkers are to decide who is fit to serve, and if the American voter decides differently, the New Yorkers may ignore Congress when it rejects their obiter dicta. Similarly in the Howard Hughes matter, capitalistic public relations counsel turned what should have been an orderly hearing into a raucous circus, packing the committee halls, giving out teasing stories unrelated to committee intentions. It may have been smart but it was contemptuous and what makes it even more unfortunate, they knew not what they did. For the boomerang is obvious: an investigation into how such operations are arranged, organized and paid for. This must come sooner or later.

The point is that Congress must be protected and preserved. It is the most orderly system of government in which human freedom is possible. It is costly and wasteful of time—but we are slaves. That is the point.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The Anglo-American movie situation has really become involved in the last few weks. With the 75 percent English tax and the American ban, John Bull and Uncle Sam have wound up thumbing their reels at each other.

The situation has embarrassed the English players here in Hollywood. I saw C. Aubrey Smith sneaking up an alley last night wearing a smoked monocle . . . and it disturbed me so. I haven't eaten a pork pie at Mowbray's for two weeks.

The whole thing is financial and very complicated, but I understand they are going to settle it by having James Mason and Humphrey Bogart fight it out.

First England wanted the money in pounds, now they want it in tons. But I don't see how we can refuse. Life would be so dull without Deborah Kerr (prounced Mad Man Muntz). But there's not much we can do about it; they're holding Rita Hayworth as hostage.

Now that we can't send our films to Britain, Cecil B. DeMille is getting desperate. In fact, he's thinking of making a celluloid highway to Alaska.

But there's nothing to worry about. They've called in a financial expert who is going to remove the tax. He's solving the whole problem by raising the price of popcorn.

Just Politics—That's All "Conspiracies" Drive Will Be

President Truman has followed up Attorney General Clark's headline-hunting announcement of a drive against "conspiracies" to raise prices with a statement of his belief that such a drive will produce results. This is hardly surprising, since Mr. Clark would not have made his announcement without the prior approval of his chief.

Certainly there can be no public opposition to continuing efforts by the Justice Department to enforce the laws against price-fixing. That is part of the department's job. But the implication of the Clark statement, issued before the investigation was ordered, was that "conspiracies" actually exist and that the Truman Administration, like a doughty St. George, is setting out to slay the dragon.

If Mr. Clark had consulted the Department of Commerce, whose job it is to keep tabs on prices and their causes, he would have learned that recent studies show the biggest price rises have not come in big industry—the special target of the Sherman Act—but in the field of small enterprise. Had he consulted any non-labor economist, or any reasonably informed man in the street, he could have learned that current soaring prices are due mainly to terrific increase in the cost of raw materials, the rising wage scale and the world-wide shortage of materials and goods of almost every description. Today the demand exceeds the supply in practically all commodities. When a manufacturer or seller can practically name his own price, he does not need to conspire in violation of the law to keep prices up.

By all means, let Mr. Clark carry on his investigation, provided he really investigates and does not spend all his time hurling vague charges about the economic landscape. It may be interesting to note, however, that when Mr. Clark was issuing his blast, John F. Sonnett, new head of the anti-trust division, was starting out on his vacation.

Modern press agents, such as Johnny Meyer, have improved their technique. No midgets were placed in Senator Brewster's lap.

Too Many Americans Are Found To Be Uninformed

When Dr. George Gallup set out a few days ago to find out what the public thought of the flying disks, he found out something else, too; something which is quite disturbing. It is the knack Americans have for knowing all about inconsequential things while ignoring really important affairs.

The Gallup survey, which appeared in this newspaper last Friday morning, revealed that nine out of every ten Americans not only knew about the flying disks but had definite opinions on them. Yet at the same time only half the people had heard about the Marshall Plan and only 60 per cent had heard or read about the Taft-Hartley Bill. Last January a poll showed that eight out of ten voters did not know what the Wagner Act contained, although it has been a law for ten years.

The fault is not with the newspapers. The press of the country devoted far more columns of space to the Marshall Plan and the Taft-Hartley bill than it did to the flying disks. Those two exceedingly important issues were almost constantly on the front page for months, often getting eight-column headlines.

The trouble was that so many Americans didn't take the time to read the stories. They gobbled down items on the flying disks and passed over world-shaking events. Yet many of these same Americans, entirely ignorant of the facts, were and are willing to set themselves up as authorities and praise or condemn the Marshall Plan or the Taft-Hartley Act. That is why you hear so many crazy curbstone opinions about them today. It is why people who do know about those subjects and who are propagandizing for a cause can sway their fellow citizens with deliberate misinterpretations of the truth.

This is only one example of a serious defect in our national character. Americans pride themselves on their form of government, yet too few of them keep abreast of developments and many of them do not even take the trouble to qualify themselves as voters. The best guarantee of freedom is an informed and enlightened public.

California couple, divorced 10 years, has remarried. If this becomes a trend, the accusation may soon be heard that divorce is a failure.

Lee Situation In Europe Should Have Been Detected

Several days ago Robert S. Allen, pinch-hitting for Drew Pearson, in The Washington Merry-Go-Round, which appears daily in this newspaper, cited the fact that a special congressional committee will make an on-the-scene study of the case involving Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, who has, apparently been conducting the Mediterranean Theatre of Operation in a high-handed manner for some time.

It is hard to understand, sometimes, why so many abuses go uncorrected until a newspaperman comes along and discovers them. Why is it necessary to spread a sorry story where all can see it before anything is done to correct conditions? Hasn't anyone but Mr. Pearson and Mr. Allen noticed it? Hasn't the War Department, or Congress, any method of checking up on conditions like that and correcting them before they become a national and international scandal.

Of course, a number of probes are being launched—now. Routine investigations of all big operators, especially abroad, should be made from time to time, just to see that all is going well.

If the probes substantiate the charges about Lt. Gen. Lee that Mr. Allen dealt with in his column, the GI's in the Mediterranean Theatre doubtless will get better treatment and the government may be saved some money. That will be a gain for the future.

But the past is irretrievable. And, to effect the reforms, the cat had to be let out of the bag for all to see. Including our Russian allies, who will make a tiger out of it.

Elliott Roosevelt's reputation was not an issue in the congressional hearings, as he charged. It had already been established.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

PEPTIC ULCER TREATMENT

A 60 YEAR old woman asked recently if she could develop peptic ulcer. She was told that no age group is exempt but since the 20-40 age group is more susceptible, her chances were slight. In addition, men are affected more often than women except among teen-agers and young adults when a greater number of girls become victims.

Peptic ulcers are so named because our forefathers thought that peptic digestion of the wall of the gastric pouch was responsible. This concept has been disproved but modern scientists have not done too well in offering a substitute. They have many explanations as to why the tiny craters form but none is foolproof. The lesions may appear in the gastric pouch (stomach ulcers) or in the first part of the intestine (duodenal ulcers.)

Many sufferers have a highstrung, nervous, worrisome temperament which makes them prone to emotional upsets. This may affect the acidity of the stomach, increase the churning motions, or disturb the circulation to a tiny spot in the wall which in turn breaks down the ulcerates.

Since there are so many factors working against the victim, he must make sacrifices if he expects to get well. This situation may not be evident to a new case because diet plus alkalis will produce dramatic results. But recurrences are customary unless a hygienic regimen is followed. Furthermore, each bout may become more difficult to handle so that treatment which helped in the beginning may not prove effective years later. This is not a hard and fast rule, as some are cured the first time and never have any more trouble. Others go for years between attacks. On the other hand, symptoms may appear once or twice a year and in a few, complications such as hemorrhage, perforation, or obstruction will ensue.

The best results are obtained in patients who look beyond the diet and medication stages and take stock of their daily activities. They must try to overcome inward tension. By organizing their duties they frequently can do as much or more work than before but with half the stress and strain. This is not always easy but it is surprising how much progress can be made by planning and determination.

Ulcer management still includes diet and alkalis. The Sippy powders are giving way gradually to the aluminum preparations. Antispasmodics in the form of atropine and belladona are also helpful as well as mild sedatives to reduce undue tension. Among the newer treatments are the use of amino acids in the form of predigested protein. Reports on their efficiency vary but when given in large amounts they may not only relieve symptoms but make up the nitrogen deficit which is so important in healing. There are many products of this type on the market, but the majority have an objectionable taste, especially when consumed day afer day. Enterogastrone and urogastrone are another pair of new comers. These hormones are still in the experimental stage and more time will be necessary for proper evaluation. In some instances, however, they have given complete and rapid relief.

The latest surgical approach is vagotomy in which the nerves to the stomach are severed. This in turn lessens the motility of the organ as well as the percentage of acid secreted. The effect has been excellent, but it is wise to try conservative remedies first. Occasionally, distress is such that a portion of the stomach must be removed or an ingenious operation done so that the food is rerouted around the ulcerated area.

Mrs. A. writes: What is the cause of pyloric spasm or pyloric stenosis in a newborn? Each of my children has been the victim of one or the other.

REPLY

These two disorders involve the same structure, the outlet of the stomach. In pylorospasm, the muscle is tense but capable of relaxing, thru the use of drugs. In stenosis, the obstruction is permanent due to a peculiarity of the muscle growth. Operation is usually required.

EFFECT OF ALCOHOL

G. N. writes: Do alcoholic drinks destroy the red blood corpuscles?

REPLY

No, but if alcohol is substituted for food, anemia and vitamin deficiency can result.

INEFFECTIVE

A. R. writes: I have been advised that athlete's foot can be cured with the sulfa drugs or penicillin. Is this true?

REPLY

I do not know where you obtained your information but in general these preparations have proved disappointing in ringworm of the foot.

TENDER EAR

Mrs. S. writes: When I lie on my left side that ear aches severely. What causes this?

REPLY

Apparently the ear is tender as a result of infection or injury. A thoro search will undoubtedly reveal the true cause.

Former Governor Griswold Learns About Greece; New Coolidge Just As Parsimonious As Late President Calvin Coolidge; Legislatures Hamper City Rule

Says ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Former Nebraska Governor Dwight Griswold didn't have long to wait to learn he has a man-sized job on his hands coping with the ultra-reactionary Greek Government in administering the Truman doctrine.

It's still an official secret, but several days after Griswold arrived in Athens the Greek Government blandly informed him that the country's food reserves were completely exhausted.

Means Of Averting Disaster In World Now Under Discussion

By MARK SULLIVAN

Toward the application for financial aid which representatives of Britain are making to our government at Washington this week, some of our officials are stiff. This attitude is natural enough, based on the simple facts.

A year and six weeks ago we loaned Britain 3¾ billion dollars. At the time, both Britain and the United States believed that this would take care of Britain's needs for 5 years, it was stipulated that she would begin to repay in 1951. But now it turns out that the money is almost exhausted, by October none will be left. It is not surprising if some of our officials take the natural attitude of a lender asking for explanation from a borrower who wants more.

But another group of our officials, thoroughly informed and sincere almost to the point of frantic anxiety, say that further aid to Britain is an urgent necessity, and an immediate one. The aid must be given, they say, in a matter of weeks—or else. The "or else" they fear is not only collapse of Britain but collapse of the whole world—that universal collapse of the capitalist system which Russia talks about and expects, and out of which she hopes to bring about a Communist world.

Collapse of Britain Threatens Plan

To prevent the world from falling under Communism and Russian domination, to save as much as possible of it for democracy and free enterprise, is the purpose of our whole foreign policy. To carry out that purpose we set up the Marshall Plan for recovery of the countries of Western Europe. But the Marshall Plan takes time, it will be several weeks before the European countries can take the preliminary steps, and weeks more before Congress can provide the necessary money. Meanwhile, unexpected and dismaying, comes imminent threats of collapse of Britain, which would make the Marshall Plan futile, which of itself would throw the world into prostration.

The main reason for the immediacy of the British need has to do with the pound and the dollar, and their relative values. Most of the trade of the world is carried on in these currencies, more in the pound than in the dollar. During the war Britain, quite reasonably, restricted much of her trade to pounds, her dependencies could carry on transactions only in that currency. As a result many countries accumulated great quantities of pounds.

Restrictions to the use of pounds would be, in a normal after post-war recovery, an unhealthy condition. To end it Britain and the United States agreed, as a stipulation of the loan we made her a year ago, that after a reasonable time Britain should make pounds interchangeable with dollars. A reasonable time was defined as one year—after July of the present year England would give dollars to countries having pounds if they so desired. To do this was a large part of the purpose of the 3¾ billion dollars we loaned her. Britain lived up to the agreement, last July she began to give dollars for pounds.

But in the intervening year, unexpected conditions arose. Britain did not recover to the extent expected and hence had a limited amount of goods to sell to the world. Other countries that wanted goods had therefore little use for the pounds they had accumulated.

But every country had much use for dollars. We were the one country producing goods, especially food, for sale to the rest of the world. The world wanted what we produced and wanted dollars to pay for it. They drew on Britain's stock of dollars so rapidly that it came toward an end.

World-Wide Collapse Not Impossible

If Britain should be obliged now to say to the world: "We cannot give you dollars for your pounds" there is serious possibility that the world might begin to question the value and safety of the pound. If the pound should begin to lose purchasing power, it might lead to world-wide collapse, including large areas of famine. The danger is illustrated by India.

India has vast amounts in pounds. At present she can change her pounds into dollars, and with the dollars buy the food and other goods she must have. If she could no longer change her pounds into dollars, prostration might result. This example of India is duplicated with variations in other countries. The whole result might be the world-wide economic collapse that Russia has predicted and been waiting for.

Means of averting disaster are being discussed this week at Washington and will be discussed more fully when Secretary of the Treasury Snyder goes to London in September. One suggestion is that the United States should agree to some plan by which we would take over the burden of keeping the pound and the dollar interchangeable.

Truman Engages In What Is Termed Intimidation With NLRB

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Word has leaked out that Mr. Truman engaged in what has been called by some observers "intimidation" in a recent conference with members of the National Labor Relations Board whom he had just appointed. Labor-union publications have been referring gleefully to the episode and have noted that Mr. Truman warned the three new labor relations board members that he did not have to reappoint them next January after their recess appointments expire. This was in connection with another statement by the President that the board was considered by him an "executive" agency responsible to him.

The implication was that, since Congress had declined to confirm the new members of the board and would in effect watch them in the next several months, so also could the President do some watching and refuse to send in the nominations when Congress reconvened.

The International Association of Machinists, in a statement by its president in the union's weekly newspaper, declared that a small group in Congress, led by Senator Ball of Minnesota, has "seized control over the supposedly impartial machinery of the new National Labor Relations Board and are using it in a campaign to break up trade unions in this country."

Mr. Truman is reported to have said it was all right for the reorganized NLRB to "cooperate" with the congressional committee but that it should interpret the new Taft-Hartley Act itself and ignore all attempts at dictation. It was presumably at this point that the President interjected his remark about what he could do with respect to reappointments.

Such Intimidation Rare

Nothing of this sort of intimidation has come in a long time from the White House—not, in fact, since the days of President Coolidge, who appointed a member of a federal board and asked him to leave his signed resignation with the President at the same time.

Mr. Truman's action in endeavoring to pass judgment on the extent to which a congressional committee may or may not confer with members of a federal board or investigate its rulings is a surprising usurpation of power.

Another incident of this kind occurred in the Roosevelt administration about four years ago, when the treasury department, acting on White House orders, refused to furnish certain data needed by congressional committees with respect to the operation of the tax laws. Congress finally passed a law specifically requiring the Bureau of Internal Revenue to furnish to a joint committee of Congerss regularly certain data about tax rulings and decisions and the background thereof. It went further and, under a law still in effect, the Bureau of Internal Revenue must submit for the examination of the staff of the joint congressional committee on internal revenue all awards for refunds of taxes in excess of $75,000. When they are cleared by the joint committee, they are then put through the final process for authorization of payment. The staff of the committee keeps a man at the Bureau of Internal Revenue almost all the time.

Congress has the right to tell any board or commission what it shall do with its information. The joint committee on internal revenue does not, of course, attempt to influence rulings, but it often confers with representatives of the bureau after rulings have been made and makes concrete suggestions as to how various types of problems may be handled. The bureau can, if it likes, disregard the suggestions, and Congress can legislate on them if it likes.

The new Taft-Hartley law sets up the joint committee on labor-management relations, consisting of seven members of each House who are members of the House and Senate labor committees, respectively. The law specifically says the committee, acting as a whole or by subcommittee, "shall conduct a thorough study and investigation of the entire field of labor-management relations, including but not limited to . . . The administration and operation of existing federal laws relating to labor relations . . . The internal organization and administration of labor unions . . . The means by which permanent friendly cooperation between employers and employees and stability of labor relations may be secured throughout the United States."

New Board Members Fearful

If, as a result of Mr. Truman's orders, the new National Labor Relations Board members are afraid to confer with the joint committee and its staff and to discuss their problems and experiences frankly because of a fear that they may not be reappointed, then Congress will be thwarted in its efforts to find out how the law is actually operating so that proper amendments can be ligislated. It will then be Mr. Truman who will be held responsible for attempting to sabotage the new labor law as well as congressional efforts to get the facts. A withdrawal of the threat against reappointment will be necessary if Mr. Truman is to get any of the new members confirmed by the Senate in January, for it will be assumed that they are taking orders from him instead of from the mandate of the law in its relation to the joint congressional committee's duties

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

THE essence of Statism is government by bureaucracy. An elite group, having possessed itself of power by one means or another, governs according to its will and its judgment on the general principle that those who are qualified know what is best for everybody. They set up their own qualifications and declare themselves as fitting all requirements. They have no doubts as to their own perfection.

Essentially, this concept is not new. Pythagoras and Plato held it and every so-called benevolent despot assumed it. Dr. Sun Yat-sen, for instance, conceived of the Kuomintang as holding the Chinese people in tutelage until such a time as they could govern themselves, such a time has not yet arrived 22 years after his death. The Communist party in Russia maintains an oligarchial despotism with the object of eventually establishing a democracy. Even in the United States, many of the younger New Dealers, particularly those fresh out of college, where they majored in government, believed that they were more qualified, by a Phi Beta Kappa key or something, to decide the course of their country than were members of Congress elected by the people.

Yet, the essence of the American system is representative government. Those who wrote the Constitution made no rigid qualifications as to the representatives. They could be lawyers, doctors, clergymen, shoemakers, philosophers, prohibitionists, drunkards. They might be experts in government or not able to read or write. They might be broad-minded or bigotted; they could be of any political party, religious denomination, social condition or economic status. The Constitution avoids such qualifications because the objective of the system is that the people shall choose such representatives for themselves as they please.

During the past decade, a pronounced and determined effort has been made to heap ridicule upon the Congress of the United States and to bring it into contempt. The general technique is to generalize from the particular, to select some grotesque or unpopular member one whose personal conduct lends itself to abuse, buslesque and ridicule, to heap upon him mountains of abuse, and then to attempt to create the impression that the Congress is no good because it is all like that. Many, who are opposed to totalitarianism, have fallen for this technique and have permitted themselves to become parties to it. Vested interests in danger seize upon this propaganda to aid their special purposes.

I, myself, have roared with laughter at "Senator Claghorn" on the radio. Admittedly, he is funny. But Claghorn, as a theatrical character, has brought upon Congress an unwarranted ridicule. Never once has Claghorn been anything but ridiculous; never once has he been kindly, understanding, or service to his country. He has been an unmitigated blowhard instead of a hard-working legislator with a tendency to speak loudly and punctuate aggressively. He has talked stupidly, but never is he the author of important legislation. Claghorn is not a cartoon of any man in the United Senate; he is a burlesque of the legislative process.

This ridicule of Congress reached its apogee in the Barsky-Dennis-Eisler hearings. These men held a Committee of Congress in contempt because they objected to one member of it. In a word, not the citizens of their district are to determine who is to represent them, but a group of New Yorkers are to decide who is fit to serve, and if the American voter decides differently, the New Yorkers may ignore Congress when it rejects their obiter dicta. Similarly in the Howard Hughes matter, capitalistic public relations counsel turned what should have been an orderly hearing into a raucous circus, packing the committee halls, giving out teasing stories unrelated to committee intentions. It may have been smart but it was contemptuous and what makes it even more unfortunate, they knew not what they did. For the boomerang is obvious: an investigation into how such operations are arranged, organized and paid for. This must come sooner or later.

The point is that Congress must be protected and preserved. It is the most orderly system of government in which human freedom is possible. It is costly and wasteful of time—but we are slaves. That is the point.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The Anglo-American movie situation has really become involved in the last few weks. With the 75 percent English tax and the American ban, John Bull and Uncle Sam have wound up thumbing their reels at each other.

The situation has embarrassed the English players here in Hollywood. I saw C. Aubrey Smith sneaking up an alley last night wearing a smoked monocle . . . and it disturbed me so, I haven't eaten a pork pie at Mowbray's for two weeks.

The whole thing is financial and very complicated, but I understand they are going to settle it by having James Mason and Humphrey Bogart fight it out.

First England wanted the money in pounds, now they want it in tons. But I don't see how we can refuse. Life would be so dull without Deborah Kerr (prounced Mad Man Muntz). But there's not much we can do about it; they're holding Rita Hayworth as hostage.

Now that we can't send our films to Britain, Cecil B. DeMille is getting desperate. In fact, he's thinking of making a celluloid highway to Alaska.

But there's nothing to worry about. They've called in a financial expert who is going to remove the tax. He's solving the whole problem by raising the price of popcorn.

Mending Magic

Cigarette holes in slip covers can be mended quickly with a hot iron mending tape. From your left-over swatches of slip cover material cut a patch the same size as the tear. Then from the wrong side of the slip cover, apply the tape so that it adheres both to the patch and the material at the same time, joining them in a smooth mend. When you turn the mend over, there will be no lumpy seams, no stitches of thread.

You can use this tape which comes in 11 different colors to patch household linens, cottons, sheets, aprons, uniforms, underwear and pajamas.

Gives To Missionary

Members of the WSCS of Dawson Methodist Church voted a contribution of $5 in support of Elizabeth Overly, missionary, at a meeting this week at the church. Plans were formulated also for purchasing a stove for the church kitchen.

A program of readings was given by Mrs. Ralph Long, Miss Pauline Talbott, Mrs Hazel Van Pelt and Jessie Vandervort. Following the meeting Mrs. Arthur Tichnell was honored in celebration of her birthday.

The opening fall meeting is to be held September 12, at the church with Mrs. Bertha Davis, Mrs. Jonathan Davis and Mrs. Pauline Talbott, hostesses.

Tired, "All-In"— Listless Feeling Brought To Halt

As Vibrant Energy is Released To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Do you get up in the mornings still tired, feel down-and-out all day? Have you checked-up on your blood strength lately? Overwork, undue worry, cold, flu or other illness often wears down the red-blood-cells.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. $10,000 Damages Asked For Injury

Damages of $10,000 will be asked in the suit filed in Circuit Court by Kenneth Frederick Haines, 16, by his mother and next friend, Mrs. Maggie V. Haines, Springfield, W. Va., against Van L. Teter, Altamont Terrace, according to the attorney for the plaintiff, William L. Wilson, Jr.

The action was filed Tuesday by titling, and Wilson said yesterday it is the result of an accident at Springfield, in which the boy was struck and injured by a car driven by Teter, a Kelly-Springfield Tire Company worker.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Haines, was standing on the porch of L. G. Martins general store, Wilson said, adding that Teter was driving recklessly and at a high rate of speed and ran off the road, striking the boy.

Young Haines was knocked a distance of about 30 feet, and suffered a compound fracture of both bones in the right leg, according to Wilson, who said the store building also was damaged.

Two suits for divorce were filed yesterday.

Mrs. Mary C. Beeman asked for a partial divorce from Raymond Beeman, Eckhart, and Charles William Wagoner, Cumberland, asked for an absolute divorce from Ethel Josephine Wagoner.

Launched in 1894, the Dirigo was the first all-steel sailing ship.

Manhattan Memoranda

NEW YORK, Aug. 20 — Gov. Dewey, taking no chances on a pre-convention scandal in upstate New York, has ordered state police to crack down on fly-by-nite gamblers and bookmakers who have fled from Manhattan. . . . With only two weeks more to go, Saratoga nite club operators, stuck with topflight talent at fancy prices, are already making their annual beef about "too many customers, not enough dough." . . . Jimmie Hines' old cronies along political row might care to know that he has been very lucky around the Boston race tracks, particularly at Rockingham. . . . If California bans racing, look for Nevada to open up tracks. . . . Howard Hughes' friends say that the plane builder lost 12 pounds as a result of his Washington talkfest and now has two doctors trying to restore his weight.

The House Un-American Committee's inquiry into Hollywood's alleged left wing activities will outfireworks the Hughes-Brewster show. Ex-Secretary of State Brynes, who is now on the Hollywood payroll, predicts a sizzling defense that will challenge every point. . . . Capitol Hill insiders hear that the Senate War Investigating Committee, to salvage its reputation damaged by the Hughes fiasco, is preparing a hard-hitting investigation of war contractors who used advertising with political implications (presumably Democratic) during the war. . . . George Murphy, brother of Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy, to run for Mayor of Detroit, with brother Frank doing the political coaching. . . . The Eric Johnston office has ordered movie studios to discontinue presenting female stars as drunks, dispos, stews or what have you.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. leaving for Europe Sept. 7 to visit the grave of her husband in France. On her return, she will be honored with a dinner in commemoration of his accomplishments. . . . One reason for the journey of Secretary of War Kenneth Royall to Germany was to placate Gen. Clay, who doesn't like certain State Department instructions concerning the Ruhr situation. . . . The next Congress may have a legless vet as a member in the person of GOP candidate Charles Potter from the 11th District, Michigan, for whom a special election is being held the 28th of this month. . . . The Fourth Depot Unit, Seventh Army Observation Ground Crew (A.A.F.), is holding its first reunion at the Hotel New Yorker Aug. 22, 23, 24, and all members of the Piper Club crew are urged to attend.

Licia Albanese of the Met, home from Italy with her husband, Joseph Gimma, revealed at El Borracho that she'll open the Silver Jubilee season of the San Francisco Opera. . . . Tallulah Bankhead, who swore off movies,, may do a bit in "The Patriots" as a friendly gesture to author Sydney Kingsley. After two sabbatical years, lanky Charlotte Greenwood is returning to the screen. . . . Mary Pickford has acquired rights to a best-seller of yesterday, "Sorrell and Son," which she plans to film in England. . . . Lucille Ball, a $50-a-week stock player at Columbia a decade ago, fiot a five-figure fee from that studio for co-starring with Franchot Tone in "Her Husband's Affairs." . . . Joe DiMaggio has given agents the green light to peddle his life story for pictures. . . . They do say it will be wedding bells for Mike Romanoff and Gloria Lister, but I'll believe it when I get a formal bid.

If you missed "Gone With the Wind" you'll soon be able to catch it once again, on Broadway. . . . If you missed Laurence Olivier in "Henry V," you can buy RCA-Victor's newly-released "Henry V" album, containing most of Olivier's best scenes, superbly recorded. . . . Ethel Waters, who isn't being heard nearly enough these days, has turned out a fine set of records of her old hits, put out by Mary Howard—the first gal to head a record concern. Listering to her records, you may learn where Lena Horne, currently a click at the Copacabana, got her singing style. . . . Something definitely new in premieres is that of the Luther Burbank Zinnia, making its bow at the grand ballrorom of the Waldorf Astoria at 3 p. m., Sept. 2, in the year "one thousand, nine hundred and forty seven," according to Mr. David Burpee's elaborately engraved invitations.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Young Man Advised To Give Girl, 18, Chance To Grow Up

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 22 years old and was about to get married, but my girl broke up with me a few weeks ago. She is a very nice girl, but she is young, about 18, and there are some things I don't understand about her.

I have a good job and work every day steady. My working hours are from three in the afternoon to 11 at night, so I can't take her out very much and, as a consequence, she is always sore at me. She has a girl friend who seems to be more important to her than I am. She is always telling me about the fun she had with this girl before she met me, so maybe the girl friend is what causes trouble between us.

Should I give up my job or should I forget about this girl?

"A FRIEND."

Dear "Friend":

What I think is that your girl friend is much too young to be getting married. Naturally, at 18, she is very must interested in going out and having good times, and, if your job makes it impossible for you to take her, it is easy to understand why she likes to go with her girl friend.

If you care enough for this girl so that you don't want to give her up, then couldn't you find a job in which you can work days instead of such awkward hours? This might help the situation, but, even so, my feeling is that you had better wait until she is older before trying to persuade her to get married. I am very much afraid that if she married you now, there would be trouble very soon because of her youthful desire for the good times that should go with her age. You had much better give her a chance to grow old enough to acquire an interest in settling down.

A Very Crooked Triangle

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been keeping company with a married man for the last year. His wife has also been known to step out with other men.

My friend has asked his wife for a divorce, but she refuses to let him have his freedom on the ground that they should not split up because of their two children We love each other very much and don't know what to do next.

"UNHAPPY."

Dear "Unhappy":

Any young woman who goes out with a married man is simply asking for trouble, as I shouldn't think I'd have to tell you. But, in any event, if you didn't know it before you know it now.

Obviously, if both the husband and this wife have been double-clossing each other, there is not much left of their marriage anyhow, and it can't be a very healthy atmosphere for the children involved. So it seems a rather empty excuse the woman is using for not being willing to give her husband a divorce. However, since she is taking that attitude, I don't see that there is much you can do about it but wait to see if she may not have a change of heart

In the meantime, however, you will be a very foolish girl if you continue your relationship with this man. What you say about his wife indicates that she is a woman of no character whatever—though I can't say that either you or the husband are very much better than she is—and she could very easily make serious trouble for you if she wanted to do so.

SUCH POPULARITY IS EMBARRASSING

It's very flattering, to company-wise, but it's very flattering that so many people realize that Gas is not only the most convenient fuel for use, extremely economical

but—and here's the catch!—the demand for Gas still greatly exceeds the supply in spite of all our efforts to increase our distribution facilities. So for the present we know you will understand our predicament and be patient with our present restrictions which limit new gas heating installations.

State Solons Challenge Hammond's Tax Ruling

Contesting Attorney General Hall Hammond's opinion on the two percent sales tax that each item of a single sale should be taxed separately, Allegany County Delegates Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., and William H. Geppert agreed that in approving the bill they did not provide for this interpretation.

Whitworth, chairman of the county delegation, stated yesterday that while on the Ways and Means committee when the bill was processed he knew of no move to make the tax graduated.

Geppert, who served on the Judiciary committee, said that a tax on each item is unfair and unjust. He said he is sure the legislature had no such intention.

The chairman of the Judiciary committee Bernard S. Melcinove, Baltimore, challenged Hammond's decision made August 18, in a letter to State Comptroller James J. Lacy on Tuesday.

Kurowski Hits Homer In 12th As Cards Subdue Dodgers, 3-2

Whitey Nicks Casey For Winning Wallop

BROOKLYN, Aug. 20—(AP)—The never-say-die St. Louis Cardinals, on the brink of defeat twice, smashed back to nip the Brooklyn Dodgers 3-2 in twelve innings today when George (Whitey) Kurowski rammed his 22nd home run of the season into the left field seats.

WHITEY KUROWSKI

The victory in this, probably the most important game of the National League season to date, enabled the resilient Redbirds to gain an even break in the crucial four-game series with the Dodgers and narrow Brooklyn's first place margin to 4½ games.

Kurowski's game-winning blow, his third in as many games against the Dodgers, was hit off Relief Pitcher Hugh Casey's first toss at the top of the 12th.

The defeat was a bitter pill to swallow for the Dodgers as well as most of the 25,762 fans who braved rain and unfavorable weather to watch the final game of the regular campaign here between the two rivals. Box:

Maryland Group Plans Race Track Near Ocean City

Seek License For Night Harness Races In 1948

BALTIMORE, Aug. 20—(AP)—Construction of a track costing nearly $500,000 between Ocean City and Salisbury was contemplated by a group of Eastern Shore and Delaware residents who applied today to the state racing commission for a harness racing license.

The Ocean Downs Racing Association, Inc., formerly known as the Eastern Shore Trotting Association, asked the commission for permission to operate 20 days, the last ten in July and the first ten in August starting next year.

The association announced it planned to conduct racing at night at a plant to cost $440,950, including a $150,000 steel and concrete grandstand.

Pari-mutuel betting on harness racing was authorized by the 1947 General Assembly. It limited the racing to 100 days a year. The racing commission has not acted on any of numerous applications, thus barring any operations until next summer.

The Ocean Downs group informed the commission it proposes to offer average purses of $500, or a total of $4,000 for eight races. It also plans at least two stakes worth a minimum of $2,000.

The association is headed by Theodore S. Fletcher, executive of a Preston cannery. Other officers are Franklin S. Hastings of Berlin, vice president; Edgar T. Bennett, executive of Red Star Motor Coaches, Inc., secretary and O. Sheldon Chandler of Berlin, treasurer.

The track would be located 3½ miles from Ocean City near the main highway to Salisbury. The association visualized drawing patrons from an estimated 60,000 vacationists at the eastern shore resorts.

Squad Cut From 55; Clark Shifts Emery

KEYSER, W. Va., Aug. 20—Fifty-five reported for football at Keyser High School on Monday morning and since that time the squad has been reduced to 35 by Coach Fred "Tack" Clark.

The squad includes three holdovers, namely, Charles "Ace" Emery, quarterback; Johnny "Killer" Spitzer and Dallas "Spider" Adams, halfbacks. This year Emery will be moved from quarterback to the fullback position.

Other lettermen returning to the Golden Tornado camp are Lloyd "Bud" Maine, "Red" Rawlings, Tom Kimble and Harold Raines, backs; Bob Calhoun, Bernard "Sleepy" Elbon, Bill Conroy, Kenneth Cross, Neil "Mole" Wensell, Bill Timbrook and "Buck" Berg, linemen.

Players from last year's squad that probably will see a lot of action are Wayne Thrush, Elmer Hartman, Bill Vandiver and Al Martin. Newcomers showing promise are Marvin Litten, Bill Hartman, Paul Emery, Bob Rice, "Red" Grubb, James Fazzalore and Bob McIntyre.

Coach Clark has a rebuilding job to do after losing nine of last year's first team due to graduation.

Other changes in addition to Emery, will be Calhoun from center to quarter back; Tom Kimble from quarterback to end and Harold Raines from bullback to tackle.

So far Coach Clark has been sending his boys through light drills but he expects to scrimmage them about Saturday. Most of the equipment for this year's team is new.

Yankees Win Over Detroit In Wild Tilt

New Yorkers Take 14-13 Game In 11th

DETROIT, Aug. 20 (AP)—Overcoming an eight-run deficit in two innings to tie the score with a five-run rally in the ninth, the New York Yankees squeezed out a wild 14 to 13 decision over the Detroit Tigers today in the 11th inning when Johnny Lindell singled and Phil Rizzuto doubled him home with the Yanks' 19th hit of the game.

Detroit chased Bobo Newsom in three innings but Larry Berra's two-run homer helped the Yankees take a 5-4 lead in the fifth before the game went completely wild.

The Tigers seemingly put the game on ice with a nine-run splurge in the seventh off Frank Shea and Joe Page that put them out front 13-5 but New York wouldn't quit. Box:

Notes From Fairgo

The Jockeys' Guild, Inc., Purse will be the headliner on today's program at Fairgo. It's a $1,200 feature for three-year-olds and up and is attracting such good sprinters as Annie's Dream, Double Duty, Oyster K., Army Belle, Erato, Golden Blaze, Green Garden and Valdina Dust.

Secondary feature on the third day's program is the Cal Cessna Memorial over the route of one mile and a sixteenth.

Post time is 2:30 p. m.

Yesterday's program was an unusual one for Fairgo because of the fact that every event was less than one mile. The card consisted of five races of 6 1-2 furlongs and three sprints of five furlongs.

Fairgo became a member of the "Leaky Roof Circuit" yesterday. The heavy downpour caused the press box roof to leak and some of the members of the Fourth Estate got quite a ducking before the windows could be lowered.

Wilson Ford and Jack Carpenter of the Racing Form were so thoroughly soaked during the second race that they took off their trousers and walked around in their shorts making charts.

"I'm ready for the 100 yeards dash," Carpenter said.

It was so dark on the back stretch during the running of the first race that the chart makers experienced difficulty making out the colors and the numbers on the horses and jockeys.

The first claim of the meeting was recorded when C. R. Norris claimed Westing out of the 6th race for $1,000 and turned the mare over to J. S. Gilman to train. The state sales tax on this transaction amounted to $20.

Johnny Tammaro came here from Atlantic City to ride. He won with Sun Victory in the 7th. In a few days he plans to go to Narragansett with Dan Chamblin's stable.

The reason Gay Array was scratched in the 8th race Patsy Grant got a piece of mud in his eye and was unable to ride. All of the other riders had dressed and left the jockeys' quarters at the time and no substitute was available.

Kurowski Hits Homer In 12th As Cards Subdue Dodgers, 3-2

Whitey Nicks Casey For Winning Wallop

BROOKLYN, Aug. 20—(AP)—The never-say-die St. Louis Cardinals, on the brink of defeat twice, smashed back to nip the Brooklyn Dodgers 3-2 in twelve innings today when George (Whitey) Kurowski rammed his 22nd home run of the season into the left field seats.

WHITEY KUROWSKI

The victory in this, probably the most important game of the National League season to date, enabled the resilient Redbirds to gain an even break in the crucial four-game series with the Dodgers and narrow Brooklyn's first place margin to 4½ games.

Kurowski's game-winning blow, his third in as many games against the Dodgers, was hit off Relief Pitcher Hugh Casey's first toss at the top of the 12th.

The defeat was a bitter pill to swallow for the Dodgers as well as most of the 25,762 fans who braved rain and unfavorable weather to watch the final game of the regular campaign here between the two rivals. Box:

Maryland Group Plans Race Track Near Ocean City

Seek License For Night Harness Races In 1948

BALTIMORE, Aug. 20—(AP)—Construction of a track costing nearly $500,000 between Ocean City and Salisbury was contemplated by a group of Eastern Shore and Delaware residents who applied today to the state racing commission for a harness racing license.

The Ocean Downs Racing Association, Inc., formerly known as the Eastern Shore Trotting Association, asked the commission for permission to operate 20 days, the last ten in July and the first ten in August starting next year.

The association announced it planned to conduct racing at night at a plant to cost $440,950, including a $150,000 steel and concrete grandstand.

Pari-mutuel betting on harness racing was authorized by the 1947 General Assembly. It limited the racing to 100 days a year. The racing commission has not acted on any of numerous applications, thus barring any operations until next summer.

The Ocean Downs group informed the commission it proposes to offer average purses of $500, or a total of $4,000 for eight races. It also plans at least two stakes worth a minimum of $2,000.

The association is headed by Theodore S. Fletcher, executive of a Preston cannery. Other officers are Franklin S. Hastings of Berlin, vice president; Edgar T. Bennett, executive of Red Star Motor Coaches, Inc., secretary and O. Sheldon Chandler of Berlin, treasurer.

The track would be located 3½ miles from Ocean City near the main highway to Salisbury. The association visualized drawing patrons from an estimated 60,000 vacationists at the eastern shore resorts.

35 Keyser High Gridders Drill

Squad Cut From 55; Clark Shifts Emery

KEYSER, W. Va., Aug. 20—Fifty-five reported for football at Keyser High School on Monday morning and since that time the squad has been reduced to 35 by Coach Fred "Tack" Clark.

The squad includes three holdovers, namely, Charles "Ace" Emery, quarterback; Johnny "Killer" Spitzer and Dallas "Spider" Adams, halfbacks. This year Emery will be moved from quarterback to the fullback position.

Other lettermen returning to the Golden Tornado camp are Lloyd "Bud" Maine, "Red" Rawlings, Tom Kimble and Harold Raines, backs; Bob Calhoun, Bernard "Sleepy" Elbon, Bill Conroy, Kenneth Cross, Neil "Mole" Wensell, Bill Timbrook and "Buck" Berg, linemen.

Players from last year's squad that probably will see a lot of action are Wayne Thrush, Elmer Hartman, Bill Vandiver and Al Martin. Newcomers showing promise are Marvin Litten, Bill Hartman, Paul Emery, Bob Rice, "Red" Grubb, James Fazzalore and Bob McIntyre.

Coach Clark has a rebuilding job to do after losing nine of last year's first team due to graduation.

Other changes in addition to Emery, will be Calhoun from center to quarter back; Tom Kimble from quarterback to end and Harold Raines from bullback to tackle.

So far Coach Clark has been sending his boys through light drills but he expects to scrimmage them about Saturday. Most of the equipment for this year's team is new.

Yankees Win Over Detroit In Wild Tilt

New Yorkers Take 14-13 Game In 11th

DETROIT, Aug. 20 (AP)—Overcoming an eight-run deficit in two innings to tie the score with a five-run rally in the ninth, the New York Yankees squeezed out a wild 14 to 13 decision over the Detroit Tigers today in the 11th inning when Johnny Lindell singled and Phil Rizzuto doubled him home with the Yanks' 19th hit of the game.

Detroit chased Bobo Newsom in three innings but Larry Berra's two-run homer helped the Yankees take a 5-4 lead in the fifth before the game went completely wild.

The Tigers seemingly put the game on ice with a nine-run splurge in the seventh off Frank Shea and Joe Page that put them out front 13-5 but New York wouldn't quit. Box:

Notes From Fairgo

The Jockeys' Guild, Inc., Purse will be the headliner on today's program at Fairgo. It's a $1,200 feature for three-year-olds and up and is attracting such good sprinters as Annie's Dream, Double Duty, Oyster K., Army Belle, Erato, Golden Blaze, Green Garden and Valdina Dust.

Secondary feature on the third day's program is the Cal Cessna Memorial over the route of one mile and a sixteenth.

Post time is 2:30 p. m.

Yesterday's program was an unusual one for Fairgo because of the fact that every event was less than one mile. The card consisted of five races of 6 1-2 furlongs and three sprints of five furlongs.

Fairgo became a member of the "Leaky Roof Circuit" yesterday. The heavy downpour caused the press box roof to leak and some of the members of the Fourth Estate got quite a ducking before the windows could be lowered.

Wilson Ford and Jack Carpenter of the Racing Form were so thoroughly soaked during the second race that they took off their trousers and walked around in their shorts making charts.

"I'm ready for the 100 yeards dash," Carpenter said.

It was so dark on the back stretch during the running of the first race that the chart makers experienced difficulty making out the colors and the numbers on the horses and jockeys.

The first claim of the meeting was recorded when C. R. Norris claimed Westing out of the 6th race for $1,000 and turned the mare over to J. S. Gilman to train. The state sales tax on this transaction amounted to $20.

Johnny Tammaro came here from Atlantic Citq to ride. He won with Sun Victory in the 7th. In a few days he plans to go to Narragansett with Dan Chamblin's stable.

The reason Gay Array was scratched in the 8th race Patsy Grant got a piece of mud in his eye and was unable to ride. All of the other riders had dressed and left the jockeys' quarters at the time and no substitute was available.

Australia Makes Change In Lineup For Net Matches

Long Replaces Quist In Tests With U. S.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—(AP)—Australia, which absorbed a 5 to 0 beating at Melbourne last December, made only one change in the Davis Cup team it named today to oppose the same quartet of U. S. players in the challenge round at Forest Hills, Aug. 30 to Sept. 1.

Colin Long, little known until a year ago, was named to the Aussie team to replace the veteran Adrain Quist, who didn't make the trip to Europe or Canada which made possible the Australians' appearance at Forest Hills.

Long, a specialist in doubles play, probably will pair with John Bromwich in that vital phase of the competition. Other Australians picked are Dinny Pails and Geoff Brown.

The American team is made up of Jack Kramer, currently No. 1 in world amateur tennie ratings; Ted Schroeder, who turned in a spectacular singles triumph as the U. S. regained the cup last December; Frankie Parker and Gardnar Mulloy.

Kramer and Schroeder are almost definite choices to play the four singles encounters while the doubles team, which need not be named until 24 hours before it plays, may be either Kramer and Schroeder or Parker and Mulloy.

The former pair defeated Bromwich and Quist in the decisive match at Melbourne last winter but Parker and Mulloy whipped the American cup combine at the Casino championships, Newport, R. I., last weekend and are co-favored in the national doubles play now in progress at Brookline, Mass.

Armed Hangs Up New Track Mark

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

CHICAGO, Aug. 20—(AP)—Armed, Calumet Farm's golden gelding, galloped to a new track record in winning the $43,750 Whirlaway Stakes at Washington Park today in his final tuneup for the $100,000 winner-take-all match race with Assault here August 30.

Armed, engaging in a terrific stretch duel against With Pleasure—thrice his conqueror this season—ran the mile and a furlong in 1:48 3-5, clipping four fifths of a second off the old mark established by Be Faithful a year ago.

With Pleasure finished second, half a length back, and Service Pilot was third. Jack S. L. was fourth, Eternal Reward fifth and Challenge Me was sixth and last.

A sweltering crowd of 17,500 sent Armed to the post a 1 to 3 favorite. He returned $2.60 and $2.20. With Pleasure paid $2.20 to place. There was no show wagering.

Armed displayed his courage after being overtaken in mid-stretch. He forged ahead under the guidance of Jockey Douglas Dodson to set the new track record.

Armed's match race with Assault wil be a furlong longer than today's affair, which netted the Calumet farm $29,325 and raised Armed's earnings to $604,080. Assault, second leading money winner of all time, has won $623,370.

Browns' Tryout Camp Continues

More Players Report; Game On Tap Today

The tryout camp of the St. Louis Browns goes into the third day today with another intra-squad game scheduled for 10 o'clock. All players at the camp will get an opportunity to take part in the game.

Yesterday's intra-squad game which lasted for 12 innings had a total of 44 players participating. At the start of the contest the teams consisted mostly of Hyndman players versus Frostburg youths. However, after about three innings of tense rivalry substitutes were poured into the game freely on both sides.

Today's scheduled game is not expected to last as long as yesterday's contest due to lack of pitchers but it is expected that six to eight innings will be played with four or five hurlers taking part.

In addition to the intra-squad game, the outfielders will take part in a drill testing their throwing arms, and if the field is dry enough, short sprints and base circling will be on the program. However, if the field is muddy the running activities will probably be postponed until Friday.

RIDGELEY GRIDDERS WILL REPORT FRIDAY; SEVEN GAMES LISTED

Candidates for Ridgeley High School's football team will meet Friday at 2 p. m. at the school, and practice will get under way on Monday, according to Coach Jesse Riggleman.

Seven games, four of which will be played with Potomac Valley Conference foes, have been scheduled. They are:

Sept. 26—Petersburg, home (conference). Oct. 3—Allegany, away. Oct. 10—Keyser, home (conference). Oct. 17—Moorefield, home (conference). Oct. 24—Fort Hill, away. Oct. 31—Romney, away (conference). Nov. 7—Open. Nov. 14—LaSalle, away, pending.

Ridgeley's 1946 record was five wins, two losses and two ties.

Praises Garden Bout, Gives Cancer Fund $4

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. (AP)—During most of the past three years George Moran, an ardent New York fight fan, has been paying $12 for a ringside seat every Friday night at Madison Square Garden. Last week the price was cut to $8 for the Anton Raadik-Ernie Vigh bout.

Today Sol Strauss, acting president of the 20th Century Sporting Club which promoted the card received a letter and $4 from Moran, saying the bout had been better than many of the costlier ones. Strauss turned the money over to the Damon Runyan Memorial Cancer Fund.

Young Is On Spot In All-Star Game

Bears Plan To Stop "Buddy" Of Yankees

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 20, (AP) — Claude (Buddy) Young, Illinois' jet-propelled halfback, may prove the show-stealer in the college All-Star game which will pack 102,000 thrill-hungry football fans into Chicago's Soldier Field Friday night.

Young, an unbelievably fast Mr. Five-By-Five, will be on the spot against the favored Chicago Bears of the National Football League.

The Bears undoubtedly will take great pains trying to bottle up Buddy, not only because he is almost impossible to catch from behind, but also because he is the prized property of the New York Yankees in the rival All-America Conference.

Young, however, is a great money-player. He proved this in the Rose Bowl game last Jan. 1, when—after a methodical Big Nine season—he led Illinois to a resounding Pasadena triumph over U. C. L. A., by scoring two touchdowns and rushing 103 yards, 41 more than the entire U. C. L. A. total.

Young is in far better shape than the late-reporting Doc Blanchard or Army and Charley Trippi of Georgia and injured Glenn Davis of Army and Bob Fenimore of Oklahoma A. & M.

He has astounded Coach Frank Leahy with his speed and willingness to work in all-star practices.

Australia Makes Change In Lineup For Net Matches

Long Replaces Quist In Tests With U. S.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—(AP)—Australia, which absorbed a 5 to 0 beating at Melbourne last December, made only one change in the Davis Cup team it named today to oppose the same quartet of U. S. players in the challenge round at Forest Hills, Aug. 30 to Sept. 1.

Colin Long, little known until a year ago, was named to the Aussie team to replace the veteran Adrain Quist, who didn't make the trip to Europe or Canada which made possible the Australians' appearance at Forest Hills.

Long, a specialist in doubles play, probably will pair with John Bromwich in that vital phase of the competition. Other Australians picked are Dinny Pails and Geoff Brown.

The American team is made up of Jack Kramer, currently No. 1 in world amateur tennie ratings; Ted Schroeder, who turned in a spectacular singles triumph as the U. S. regained the cup last December; Frankie Parker and Gardnar Mulloy.

Kramer and Schroeder are almost definite choices to play the four singles encounters while the doubles team, which need not be named until 24 hours before it plays, may be either Kramer and Schroeder or Parker and Mulloy.

The former pair defeated Bromwich and Quist in the decisive match at Melbourne last winter but Parker and Mulloy whipped the American cup combine at the Casino championships, Newport, R. I., last weekend and are co-favored in the national doubles play now in progress at Brookline, Mass.

Armed Hangs Up New Track Mark

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

CHICAGO, Aug. 20—(AP)—Armed, Calumet Farm's golden gelding, galloped to a new track record in winning the $43,750 Whirlaway Stakes at Washington Park today in his final tuneup for the $100,000 winner-take-all match race with Assault here August 30.

Armed, engaging in a terrific stretch duel against With Pleasure—thrice his conqueror this season—ran the mile and a furlong in 1:48 3-5, clipping four fifths of a second off the old mark established by Be Faithful a year ago.

With Pleasure finished second, half a length back, and Service Pilot was third. Jack S. L. was fourth, Eternal Reward fifth and Challenge Me was sixth and last.

A sweltering crowd of 17,500 sent Armed to the post a 1 to 3 favorite. He returned $2.60 and $2.20. With Pleasure paid $2.20 to place. There was no show wagering.

Armed displayed his courage after being overtaken in mid-stretch. He forged ahead under the guidance of Jockey Douglas Dodson to set the new track record.

Armed's match race with Assault wil be a furlong longer than today's affair, which netted the Calumet farm $29,325 and raised Armed's earnings to $604,080. Assault, second leading money winner of all time, has won $623,370.

AUSTRALIAN HORSE SOLD FOR $87,360

SYDNEY, Aug. 20—(AP)—Shannon, generally accepted as the greatest race horse in Australia, was sold today for 27,300 pounds ($87,360), the highest price ever paid by an Australian for a thoroughbred.

The purchaser in an auction that lasted only a minute and 15 seconds was W. J. Smith, a stud owner who sold Beau Pere to Louis B. Mayer, American movie magnate, for $100,000.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20—I could not help but stop Anne Baxter on the dance floor at the Darryl Zanucks to compliment her. Anne has that same lovely figure she had when she first went into pictures. She's taken off every pound of excess weight and she looks stunning. She also wore a dress suitable to her years and not an "old lady" gown. And, because I scolded Anne for putting on weight—now I'm going to give her praise right out loud.

Greer Garson

I was dancing with Mervyn LeRoy, when we passed her and Mervyn said, "She's going to play Clark Gable's wife in 'Homecoming'," without realizing he'd given me a story!

Yes, Anne, as well as her husband, John Hodiak, is in "Homecoming." Well Anne and John made "Sunday Dinner for a Soldier" together when they fell in love. Some cast—Clark, Lana Turner, Anne and John. MGM is going all out for that Gable boy.

Carole Landis sails for England tomorrow on the S. S America to make her first picture in England. It was there that Carole was married during the war, and this is the first time she's been back. Unfortunately her marriage didn't take. She's just finished personal appearances in Boston and Baltimore.

Her English picture is called "Brass Monkey" and will be filmed with Carol Levis, a radio star. Part of the movie will be made aboard ship, and that's possible because a British camera crew will board the boat at Dublin, Ireland, to film the sequence.

Carole is under contract to Eagle-Lion, who made the deal before all the trouble came up over the tax.

Betty Hutton is back home after five days in Chicago with Ted Briskin and the baby. The heat got her down as it does most California people who go east at this time.

Betty has an appointment to discuss "Bloomer Girl" with William Goetz. That's the Broadway musical comedy hit that starred Celeste Holm. I'd like to see Betty as the suffragette, and it's likely that she will accept Universal-International's offer, since her Paramount contract gives her the right to make one outside movie.

Chatter in Hollywood: Don't treat the Audrey Totter - Lew Ayres friendship too lightly. It's by far the most serious romance Lew has had since he came out of the Army. And as for Audrey, she likes him much more than the other swains who have been dating her.

It's a curious combination, Audrey and Lew, two people so entirely different, but a happy one, because they have a fine understanding and have a good time together.

My girl friend, Sheila Graham has herself a job at Monogram playing herself. Sheila has almost as many jobs as I have—radio, newspaper column, and now acting. She'll be in the second part of the "Bringing Up Father" series, "Jiggs and Maggie In Society", and it starts early in September.

Well, if Sheila photographs like she looks, she'll be a credit to our profession. These "Jiggs and Maggie" comedies based on George McManus' famous cartoon in the Hearst newspapers, are very amusing.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Greer Garson looks awfully pretty these days, and she's really having herself some fun. She was at the Bel-Air with Greg Bautzer a few days ago. Maybe it was only business they were talking, but they had lots to say to each other.

A few nights ago, Cornel Wilde had dinner at the Kings with Patricia Ruth Walker in a party for four with John Carroll and Mildred Teal. The same night Mrs. Cornel Wilde had dinner at Ciro's with a man that looked like Buddy Clark. Pat and Cornel are really making it apparent their separation is still on. But I still say they'll be back together again soon.

Huntington Hartford and Yvonne De Carlo a surprising twosome at the new Champagne Room.

Jean Peters is over the flu but she still isn't well. The gash she tore in her side is giving her trouble and she may have to have a minor operation.

Louis B. Mayer hosting a small dinner honoring former President Herbert Hoover on Thursday. L. B. was always one of Hoover's strongest supporters when he was president.

A cable from Errol Flynn says that he and Nora Eddington arrived in Jamaica and are taking a cruise around the Caribbean.

Johnny O'Connor, former New York reporter, and a pal of Gene Fowler, arrives here this week to confer with Gene on the life of Jimmy Walker.

Gene Autry is giving a cocktail party for the press on Wednesday.

Pat Smart is still in the Cedars of Lebanon hospital where she's been for two weeks.

Among the rooters for the Hollywood stars Monday night was George Dixon. Yes, I mean the George who writes for the Hearst papers. He's here with his wife, and they were the guests of Sally and Bob Cobb at the Damon Runyon Memorial Fund game. George stopped by the house to pay a visit and stayed to see a picture with us.

Rita Hayworth arrives September 1 on the Queen Elizabeth and leaves for Hollywood the same day. Her picture "Down To Earth" will be released very soon and Rita will be here for the premiere.

That's all today.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20—I could not help but stop Anne Baxter on the dance floor at the Darryl Zanucks to compliment her. Anne has that same lovely figure she had when she first went into pictures. She's taken off every pound of excess weight and she looks stunning. She also wore a dress suitable to her years and not an "old lady" gown. And, because I scolded Anne for putting on weight — now I'm going to give her praise right out loud.

Greer Garson

I was dancing with Mervyn LeRoy, when we passed her and Mervyn said, "She's going to play Clark Gable's wife in 'Homecoming'," without realizing he'd given me a story!

Yes, Anne, as well as her husband, John Hodiak, is in "Homecoming." Well Anne and John made "Sunday Dinner for a Soldier" together when they fell in love. Some cast—Clark, Lana Turner, Anne and John. MGM is going all out for that Gable boy.

Carole Landis sails for England tomorrow on the S. S America to make her first picture in England. It was there that Carole was married during the war, and this is the first time she's been back. Unfortunately her marriage didn't take. She's just finished personal appearances in Boston and Baltimore.

Her English picture is called "Brass Monkey" and will be filmed with Carol Levis, a radio star. Part of the movie will be made aboard ship, and that's possible because a British camera crew will board the boat at Dublin, Ireland, to film the sequence.

Carole is under contract to Eagle-Lion, who made the deal before all the trouble came up over the tax.

Betty Hutton is back home after five days in Chicago with Ted Briskin and the baby. The heat got her down as it does most California people who go east at this time.

Betty has an appointment to discuss "Bloomer Girl" with William Goetz. That's the Broadway musical comedy hit that starred Celeste Holm. I'd like to see Betty as the suffragette, and it's likely that she will accept Universal-International's offer, since her Paramount contract gives her the right to make one outside movie.

Chatter in Hollywood: Don't treat the Audrey Totter - Lew Ayres friendship too lightly. It's by far the most serious romance Lew has had since he came out of the Army. And as for Audrey, she likes him much more than the other swains who have been dating her.

It's a curious combination. Audrey and Lew, two people so entirely different, but a happy one, because they have a fine understanding and have a good time together.

My girl friend, Sheila Graham has herself a job at Monogram playing herself. Sheila has almost as many jobs as I have — radio, newspaper column, and now acting. She'll be in the second part of the "Bringing Up Father" series, "Jiggs and Maggie In Society", and it starts early in September.

Well, if Sheila photographs like she looks, she'll be a credit to our profession. These "Jiggs and Maggie" comedies based on George McManus' famous cartoon in the Hearst newspapers, are very amusing.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Greer Garson looks awfully pretty these days, and she's really having herself some fun. She was at the Bel-Air with Greg Bautzer a few days ago. Maybe it was only business they were talking, but they had lots to say to each other.

A few nights ago, Cornel Wilde had dinner at the Kings with Patricia Ruth Walker in a party for four with John Carroll and Mildred Teal. The same night Mrs. Cornel Wilde had dinner at Ciro's with a man that looked like Buddy Clark. Pat and Cornel are really making it apparent their separation is still on. But I still say they'll be back together again soon.

Huntington Hartford and Yvonne De Carlo a surprising twosome at the new Champagne Room.

Jean Peters is over the flu but she still isn't well. The gash she tore in her side is giving her trouble and she may have to have a minor operation.

Louis B. Mayer hosting a small dinner honoring former President Herbert Hoover on Thursday. L. B. was always one of Hoover's strongest supporters when he was president.

A cable from Errol Flynn says that he and Nora Eddington arrived in Jamaica and are taking a cruise around the Caribbean.

Johnny O'Connor, former New York reporter, and a pal of Gene Fowler, arrives here this week to confer with Gene on the life of Jimmy Walker.

Gene Autry is giving a cocktail party for the press on Wednesday.

Pat Smart is still in the Cedars of Lebanon hospital where she's been for two weeks.

Among the rooters for the Hollywood stars Monday night was George Dixon. Yes, I mean the George who writes for the Hearst papers. He's here with his wife, and they were the guests of Sally and Bob Cobb at the Damon Runyon Memorial Fund game. George stopped by the house to pay a visit and stayed to see a picture with us.

Rita Hayworth arrives September 1 on the Queen Elizabeth and leaves for Hollywood the same day. Her picture "Down To Earth" will be released very soon and Rita will be here for the premiere.

That's all today.

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—Lanny Ross gets back on the network kilocycles Thursday night in a guest capacity after quite an absence. He'll perform in the Martin Block party on MBS at 8:30, originating from Hollywood. At present Lanny, who for a decade or more was a radio regular, does not have a steady series.

In view of the fact that on Friday night the network is to fill the air with words about the special football game in Chicago between a picked group of college players and the Chicago professional Bears, MBS is to have a 15 minute preview at 10:30 Thursday night. As most of these things are, it will be interviews.

Contrasting viewpoints on "Can We Expect Lower Prices with Current Wages?" are to be displayed in In My Opinion of CBS at 5:15. Speakers are Wm. Gomberg of the Garment workers union, and H. C. Zulauf, manufacturer.

America's Town Meeting, broadcasting from Santa Fe, N. M., will set up its ABC question at 8:30 to read: "Are We Giving Our American Indians a Square Deal?" Among the speakers will be Sen. William Langer of North Dakota.

Robert Young of the movies has been picked to do the top role in the Family Theater of MBS at 9. Title of the script is "The Tin Whistle" . . . The NBC Concert of Nations at 10:30, coming from Vancouver, B. C., will be supplied by the CBR Singers and string orchestra.

In listing the Peter Lorre summer pieces at 9 NBC calls them as in the classification of the field of "psychological mystery drama."

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Ministers, Psychiatrists And Children

In the last few months the Parent-Teachers Association in San Francisco has been kicking up a devil of a fuss over children's programs. The most recent action is a resolution urging two networks (Mutual and ABC) to abandon completely eleven programs—Jack Armstrong, Lone Ranger, Sky King, Hop Harrigan, Superman, Captain Midnight, Tom Mix, Red Ryder, Cisco Kid, Tennessee Jed, and Terry and the Pirates.

John Crosby

"Juvenile crime and horror programs are tending to dull the minds of children," says the resolution with great piety but not much perspicacity. The parents and teachers went on to recomend that all future children's programs be submitted to a "recognized, expert and impartial board of judges" consisting of radio representatives, psychologists, psychiatrists, ministers, educators, librarians and "listeners such as parents."

I'm not quite brash enough to defend those eleven programs, but it seems to me the kids require some defense against this sweeping and unfair indictment. It's much harder to dull the mind of a child than the P.T.A. seems to think. Dullminded children — apart from those congenitally so—are usually the ones whose imagination has been stifled by restriction imposed by well meaning but grim-lipped persons such as parents.

The literary merit of children's programs is rather questionable, it's true, but, in so far as the children are concerned, the programs are far better than anything turned out by any such panel of experts. The expertness and particularly the impartiality of psychiatrists, ministers and educators — let's leave the librarians and psychologists out of this—can't stand very strong examination. I should have violently objected to any of them passing judgment on my childhood reading. My mind might well have been purer if they had but my point of view would very definitely have been narrower and my appreciation of style probably totally undeveloped.

Besides, the ministers, educators and psychiatrists would have great difficulty finding any common ground of disapproval. The minister eager to adjust each word to accord with the precepts of the Christian church, the psychiatrist sniffing suspiciously at each evidence of trauma, the educator, his eyes alight with the holy fires of syntax, would be hopelessly at cross-purposes and any agreement among them would be—somewhat like the operations of Congress—a matter of generous compromise in which the script would be so excised, bowdlerized, sanctified and grammatical that it would not only dull the mind of the child but put it directly to sleep. Maybe, that's the idea. There's no more virtuous child than one asleep.

The last group of judges—"listeners such as parents"—is a plain contradiction in terms. It's the kids, not the parents, who listen to these things and if any one should be consulted it should be them. I'm not foolish enough to recommend the children be given complete control but right now they haven't any say-so at all. In fact, without the addition of a single parent, minister or educator, children's programs are already more carefully edited and supervised than any other group of programs on the air. Vulgarity and horror are strictly forbidden and law and order and fair play inevitably triumph in all of them. That—to lay it bluntly on the line — is why they have no literary merit whatsoever. Not, dear parents and teachers, because they are so free from restraint but because they are so hag-ridden with regulations.

The systematic attempts to purify children's minds have recurred for years, and in retrospect they always look ridiculous. At the time they were written, "Tom Sawyer", "Huckleberry Finn", "Treasure Island" or "Snow White" (a little horror story if ever there was one) could never pass any such impartial board as that suggested by the San Francisco P.T.A. These works have been hallowed by time and prestige—not an increase in tolerance or common sense on the part of parents and teachers.

For years Mark Twain was plagued by attempts—many of them successful—to bowdlerize his books. As recently as 1905, a group of women with minds like the driven snow attempted successfully to have "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn" removed from the children's shelves of the Brooklyn Public Library. At the time, Twain wrote a letter to the librarian, a little gem of irony, which I reproduce in full below:

21 Fifth Ave.
Nov. 21, '05

Dear Sir:

I am greatly troubled by what you say. I wrote Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn for adults exclusively, & it always distresses me when I find that boys and girls have been allowed access to them. The mind that becomes soiled in youth can never again be washed clean. I know this by my own experiences & to this day I cherish an unappeased bitterness against the unfaithful guardians of my young life, who not only permitted but compelled me to read an unexpurgated Bible through before I was 15 years old. None can do that and ever draw a sweet breath again this side of the grave. Ask that young lady—she will tell you so. (Ed. note: I have no idea who is the young lady referred to by Twain.)

Most honestly do I wish that I could say a softening word or two in defense of Huck's character, since you wish it, but really it is no better than those of Solomon, David, Satan and the rest of the sacred brotherhood.

If there is an Unepurgated in the Children's Department won't you please help that young woman remove Tom & Huck from that questionable companionship?

Sincerely yours,
S. L. CLEMENS

Extinguish Truck Fire

Central Fire Company was called to the rear of the A. and P. super market yesterday at 12:30 p. m. when the transmission of a Charlton Brothers Company truck caught fire. The blaze was extinguished after slight damage to the truck, firemen said.

Iraq now is buying from the United States china and glassware, cigarette lighters, combs, fountain pens, safety matches, pencils and office furniture.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Ministers, Psychiatrists And Children

In the last few months the Parent-Teachers Association in San Francisco has been kicking up a devil of a fuss over children's programs. The most recent action is a resolution urging two networks (Mutual and ABC) to abandon completely eleven programs—Jack Armstrong, Lone Ranger, Sky King, Hop Harrigan, Superman, Captain Midnight, Tom Mix, Red Ryder, Cisco Kid, Tennessee Jed, and Terry and the Pirates.

John Crosby

"Juvenile crime and horror programs are tending to dull the minds of children," says the resolution with great piety but not much perspicacity. The parents and teachers went on to recomend that all future children's programs be submitted to a "recognized, expert and impartial board of judges" consisting of radio representatives, psychologists, psychiatrists, ministers, educators, librarians and "listeners such as parents."

I'm not quite brash enough to defend those eleven programs, but it seems to me the kids require some defense against this sweeping and unfair indictment. It's much harder to dull the mind of a child than the P.T.A. seems to think. Dullminded children — apart from those congenitally so—are usually the ones whose imagination has been stifled by restriction imposed by well meaning but grim-lipped persons such as parents.

The literary merit of children's programs is rather questionable, it's true, but, in so far as the children are concerned, the programs are far better than anything turned out by any such panel of experts. The expertness and particularly the impartiality of psychiatrists, ministers and educators — let's leave the librarians and psychologists out of this—can't stand very strong examination. I should have violently objected to any of them passing judgment on my childhood reading. My mind might well have been purer if they had but my point of view would very definitely have been narrower and my appreciation of style probably totally undeveloped.

Besides, the ministers, educators and psychiatrists would have great difficulty finding any common ground of disapproval. The minister eager to adjust each word to accord with the precepts of the Christian church, the psychiatrist sniffing suspiciously at each evidence of trauma, the educator, his eyes alight with the holy fires of syntax, would be hopelessly at cross-purposes and any agreement among them would be—somewhat like the operations of Congress—a matter of generous compromise in which the script would be so excised, bowdlerized, sanctified and grammatical that it would not only dull the mind of the child but put it directly to sleep. Maybe, that's the idea. There's no more virtuous child than one asleep.

The last group of judges—"listeners such as parents"—is a plain contradiction in terms. It's the kids, not the parents, who listen to these things and if any one should be consulted it should be them. I'm not foolish enough to recommend the children be given complete control but right now they haven't any say-so at all. In fact, without the addition of a single parent, minister or educator, children's programs are already more carefully edited and supervised than any other group of programs on the air. Vulgarity and horror are strictly forbidden and law and order and fair play inevitably triumph in all of them. That—to lay it bluntly on the line — is why they have no literary merit whatsoever. Not, dear parents and teachers, because they are so free from restraint but because they are so hag-ridden with regulations.

The systematic attempts to purify children's minds have recurred for years, and in retrospect they always look ridiculous. At the time they were written, "Tom Sawyer", "Huckleberry Finn", "Treasure Island" or "Snow White" (a little horror story if ever there was one) could never pass any such impartial board as that suggested by the San Francisco P.T.A. These works have been hallowed by time and prestige—not an increase in tolerance or common sense on the part of parents and teachers.

For years Mark Twain was plagued by attempts—many of them successful—to bowdlerize his books. As recently as 1905, a group of women with minds like the driven snow attempted successfully to have "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn" removed from the children's shelves of the Brooklyn Public Library. At the time, Twain wrote a letter to the librarian, a little gem of irony, which I reproduce in full below:

21 Fifth Ave.
Nov. 21, '05

Dear Sir:

I am greatly troubled by what you say. I wrote Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn for adults exclusively, & it always distresses me when I find that boys and girls have been allowed access to them. The mind that becomes soiled in youth can never again be washed clean. I know this by my own experiences & to this day I cherish an unappeased bitterness against the unfaithful guardians of my young life, who not only permitted but compelled me to read an unexpurgated Bible through before I was 15 years old. None can do that and ever draw a sweet breath again this side of the grave. Ask that young lady—she will tell you so. (Ed. note: I have no idea who is the young lady referred to by Twain.)

Most honestly do I wish that I could say a softening word or two in defense of Huck's character, since you wish it, but really it is no better than those of Solomon, David, Satan and the rest of the sacred brotherhood.

If there is an Unepurgated in the Children's Department won't you please help that young woman remove Tom & Huck from that questionable companionship?

Sincerely yours,
S. L. CLEMENS

Many Stock Market Leaders Give Ground For Third Session In Row

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. (AP)—Stock market leaders generally continued to give ground today for the third successive session although exceptions were plentiful and dealings negligible.

The ticker tape frequently was motionless after a fairly active start. Mild irregularity prevailed until the final hour when quotations wavered in most departments and a number of pivotals closed around the day's bottoms. Transfers of 600,000 shares equalled those of Tuesday which were a bottom since June 9 and one of the lows of the past two years.

Eastman Kodak was up a point at 44⅞. Coca-Cola added three at 184½ on meager sales. Modest improvement was retained by Youngstown Sheet, Goodrich, Deere, J. I. Case, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, Western Union, North American, American Water Works, American Smelting, General Electric and Public Service of New Jersey.

American Telephone dipped seven-eighths at 155. Off around a point or so were United States Steel at 71⅜, Bethlehem 87, International Harvester 86, International Paper 47½, Southern Pacific 43⅝, Southern Railway 37 3/4 and Great Northern Railway 40⅜.

Lesser recessions were suffered by General Motors, Chrysler, United States Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Anaconda, Kennecott, Westinghouse, Dow Chemical, du Pont, Owens-Illinois, Paramount Pictures, Twentieth Century-Fox, Loew's, Pepsi-Cola, Standard Oil (NJ), Texas Company, Santa Fe, New York Central, Northern Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio.

In the Curb, gainers included Gleaner Harvester (on an extra dividend), International Products, Middle West Corporation and Hecla Mining. Backward were Fansteel, Cities Service, Scovill Manufacturing, Sherwin Williams and Electric Bond and Share. Turnover here was 120,000 shares against 150,000 yesterday.

Plans for the largest single bond issue in the history of corporate financing, a proposed $354,000,000 offering by American Telephone and Telegraph Company, absorbed the attention of investment circles while the bond market moved irregularly lower.

The market stepped up its pace somewhat over recent sessions, with transfers totaling $4,580,000 compared with $2,645,000 yesterday. The figure was the highest since July 29.

In the over-the-counter list, United States government 2½s of both September and December 1967-72 were up 1/32 bid, the latter closing at 102 30/32 bid.

Ridgeley Man Fined For Tipsy Driving

Albert R. Coffman, Ridgeley, W. Va., roofer and tinner, was fined $25 and costs yesterday morning after he was found guilty of a charge of drunken driving, Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell reported last night.

He said a 30-day jail sentence was suspended on condition that Coffman quit drinking. Coffman's car was impounded for six month and his driver's license revoked for a similar period.

Coffman was arrested Tuesday by Constable C. V. Barncord after the car he was driving collided with another car at the intersection of Bridge and John Street. Ridgeley authorities said damage to the other vehicle was only $24 and that nobody was injured in the slight crash. Coffman was identified as Delbert Kauffman, Ridgeley, prior to the hearing.

In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, Charles William Wagoner vs. Ethel Josephine Wagoner, No. 20249 Equity.
The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the complainant from the defendant.
The Bill of Complaint states that the plaintiff and the defendant were married October 11, 1935 in Ridgeley, West Virginia, and thereafter the parties took up housekeeping together in Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, where they resided together as husband and wife until on or about June 7, 1947; and that ever since the marriage of the plaintiff to the defendant, he has behaved himself as a kind, chaste and affectionate husband, and his entire conduct has always been above reproach; that on or about June 7, 1947, the defendant, without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted the plaintiff, and that the parties are now living separate and apart; that prior to the filing of the Bill of Complaint in this case, the defendant has committed the crime of adultery, and that the plaintiff has not lived nor cohabited with the defendant since learning of her adulterous conduct nor has he in any manner or way condoned the same; that no children were born as a result of said marriage; that the plaintiff has been a resident of Allegany County, Maryland, for more than one year before the filing of the Bill of Complaint in this case; and that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland and her whereabouts are unknown to the plaintiff and that she was last heard of as being in Washington, D. Many Stock Market Leaders Give Ground For Third Session In Row

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. (AP)—Stock market leaders generally continued to give ground today for the third successive session although exceptions were plentiful and dealings negligible.

The ticker tape frequently was motionless after a fairly active start. Mild irregularity prevailed until the final hour when quotations wavered in most departments and a number of pivotals closed around the day's bottoms. Transfers of 600,000 shares equalled those of Tuesday which were a bottom since June 9 and one of the lows of the past two years.

Eastman Kodak was up a point at 44⅞. Coca-Cola added three at 184½ on meager sales. Modest improvement was retained by Youngstown Sheet, Goodrich, Deere, J. I. Case, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, Western Union, North American, American Water Works, American Smelting, General Electric and Public Service of New Jersey.

American Telephone dipped seven-eighths at 155. Off around a point or so were United States Steel at 71⅜, Bethlehem 87, International Harvester 86, International Paper 47½, Southern Pacific 43⅝, Southern Railway 37 3/4 and Great Northern Railway 40⅜.

Lesser recessions were suffered by General Motors, Chrysler, United States Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Anaconda, Kennecott, Westinghouse, Dow Chemical, du Pont, Owens-Illinois, Paramount Pictures, Twentieth Century-Fox, Loew's, Pepsi-Cola, Standard Oil (NJ), Texas Company, Santa Fe, New York Central, Northern Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio.

In the Curb, gainers included Gleaner Harvester (on an extra dividend), International Products, Middle West Corporation and Hecla Mining. Backward were Fansteel, Cities Service, Scovill Manufacturing, Sherwin Williams and Electric Bond and Share. Turnover here was 120,000 shares against 150,000 yesterday.

Plans for the largest single bond issue in the history of corporate financing, a proposed $354,000,000 offering by American Telephone and Telegraph Company, absorbed the attention of investment circles while the bond market moved irregularly lower.

The market stepped up its pace somewhat over recent sessions, with transfers totaling $4,580,000 compared with $2,645,000 yesterday. The figure was the highest since July 29.

In the over-the-counter list, United States government 2½s of both September and December 1967-72 were up 1/32 bid, the latter closing at 102 30/32 bid.

Coffman was arrested Tuesday by Constable C. V. Barncord after the car he was driving collided with another car at the intersection of Bridge and John Street. Foreman's Physician Minimizes "Suicide" Theory

Bases His Opinion On Knowledge Of Case And Family Background

Dr. Richard J. Williams Says State's Attorney Has not Contacted Him For Information

The possibility that the death of John W. Foreman, Jr., 22, 905 Virginia Avenue, who authorities said died from other than natural causes, may have resulted from suicide, was minimized last night by the attending physician who based his opinion on "knowledge of the man and his family background."

Dr. Richard J. Williams, 1908 Bedford Road, who identified himself as the physician in charge of the Foreman case, said in a personal interview with a Cumberland News reporter, that he had been Mrs. John W. Foreman's physician for some time, and declared that from his knowledge of Foreman and the veteran's family background he did not think the young veteran was a suicide subject.

In answer to a reporter's question, Dr. Williams said that State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris, who has been identified as "heading the investigation," has not at any time called upon him for any information relative to the Foreman case.

A deputy in the office of Sheriff Edward R. Muir last night said the sheriff's office is still investigating the death of Foreman under the direction of State Attorney Morgan C. Harris. He said the officer assigned to the case is checking drug stores to determine what persons have purchased poisons of a "certain type" recently.

The News investigation also disclosed that Foreman had been keeping company with a married woman, and that at one time Foreman approached her husband and requested that the wife be given a divorce. The husband said last night he was aware of the fact that his wife had been seeing Foreman but declared the matter has been straightened out.

Gives History Of Case

Dr. Williams explained that when he first saw the patient after being summoned to the home, the case exhibited the usual signs and symptoms of a gastro-intestinal upset more commonly known as summer complaint.

When the patient did not respond to the usual treatment, according to the doctor, he concluded that "there was probably something more serious in the picture, especially when it was observed that a kidney shut down was becoming apparent."

Results of an autopsy made by county medical authorities, and later submitted to tests in the laboratory of a Baltimore toxicologist established proof that Foreman, who became ill on August 2, had died from poisoning, according to medical officials.

Dr. Williams said he admitted the patient to Memorial Hospital on August 6, and made a diagnosis of "chemical nephritis." He immediately called into consultation four other physicians and "a battle to save the man's life was started."

Special nurses were brought in on the case, according to the physician, and every facility of the hospital was willingly furnished. Several hours before death, Dr. Williams declared, the physicians were "in sight of victory."

The patient's kidneys were "slowly commencing to function," Dr. Williams asserted, adding, "however, the chemical agent, whatever it may have been, had so poisoned the heart that the patient gasped several times and died."

"I refused to sign the death certificate," Dr. Williams said, "because I thought that the case needed further study from a medico-legal standpoint. The deputy county medical examiner was called in, so that an autopsy could be ordered." The physician declared he does not know the chemical agent involved and that his responsibility in the matter ended when he turned the matter over to the medical examiner.

Cause Of Death Undetermined

Dr. Deming said last night that he still has not completed the death certificate filed with the Bureau of Vital Statistics, explaining it must be determined on the certificate if the death resulted from "suicide or homicide."

Meanwhile State's Attorney Harris was continuing to probe the case in his "close-mouth" manner. It was learned by the News that Harris had questioned at least one person yesterday, believed to have been with Foreman when he visited a West Virginia beer tavern on August 1, shortly before midnight.

Another source close to the case disclosed yesterday that Foreman returned from West Virginia shortly before midnight on Aug. 1 and after going home, again went out. Members of the family said they did not know what time he returned but they noticed the next morning that he had set an alarm clock to awaken him in time to go to work at the Celanese Corporation of America's Amcelle plant where he was employed in the Service Department.

Foreman, according to relatives, did not report for work on Saturday morning, however, because he was ill. Members of the family said he did leave the house on Saturday but they did not know how long he was away from home.

Sunday, members of the family said, the young man began suffering from nausea and asked that a doctor be called, "because I'm very ill and can't seem to keep anything

"DEATH BEING PROBED"— Authorities yesterday were continuing to investigate the death of John W. Foreman, Jr., (above) 905 Virginia Avenue, who medical officials said died in Memorial Hospital August 10 from other than natural causes.

Seven Diphtheria Cases Reported By Health Officer

Dr. Frantz Warns Against Disease

Stating that the Health Department has received reports within the past two weeks of four cases of diphtheria in the city, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, yesterday advised all persons suffering severe sore throat symptoms to seek medical attention immediately.

Dr. Frantz said that the four diphtheria patients are adults, although the ailment is usually confined to young children. Three other diphtheria cases have been reported in Lonaconing, but those patients are children, he added.

Warning that diphtheria is highly contagious, and is more dangerous in the case of young children than in adults, Dr. Frantz said the Health Department is anxious to prevent further spread of the disease in view of the fact that schools will reopen September 4.

He said that persons who believe they have tonsilitis may actually be suffering from diphtheria, adding that they may become carriers of the disease if they do not receive medical treatment.

The Health Department's long established program of immunizing babies and school children against the disease may be one reason why no cases of diphtheria have been reportedo among Cumberland children, Dr. Frantz said.

Adults are not immunized against diphtheria as a general rule because the disease is ordinarily confined to children, he added.

Among the injuries suffered by the youth were a fractured skull, Dr. Deming said, adding that death resulted from an intra-cranial hemorrhage.

Young Sturtz was helping his brother, Ellsworth Sturtz, load coal into a mine car when the fall of rock occurred, informants said. Earl Michaels, owner and operator of the mine, and Ellsworth Sturtz, rushed the badly injured but still conscious youth to the hospital.

Sturtz was a son of Walter and Edith Porter Sturtz, Mt. Savage. He attended school in Meyersdale, Pa., and formerly worked on his father's farm in Mt. Savage.

Police Seek Meyersdale Man Who Disappears After Leaving Hospital

William Dia Was Hurt In Accident

State and City Police last night were looking for William C. Dia, 24, Meyersdale, Pa., who reportedly disappeared yesterday morning an hour after he was released from Memorial Hospital where he was treated for minor injuries suffered in an automobile accident about 1 a. m.

State Trooper William McElfish said he drove Dia from Memorial Hospital about 10 a. m. to a North Mechanic Street garage where he and Warren R. Smith, Rouzerville, Pa., owner of a truck involved in the accident, discussed settling of damages.

Dia, the trooper said, suddenly disappeared and has not been seen since.

Members of his family came here from Meyersdale to try to locate Dia and told police, they said, that Dia on occasion had "fogged out" as far as his memory is concerned.

The accident happened when the car, police said, was driven by Dia crashed against Smith's parked truck, ran into the yard of a home and hit a tree in the Bowling Green section.

Trooper McElfish said Dia was traveling toward Cresaptown when his vehicle left the road and hit the truck, parked about 10 feet from the shoulder. The truck was turned over by the impact.

Then Dia's car plunged into the yard at the John C. Dicken home and hit a tree, the trooper said, adding that the automobile was badly damaged.

Dia was taken to Memorial Hospital and the attending physician said he was treated for a slight bump on the head. Dia remained at the hospital until about 10 a. m. and was perfectly all right when he left, the doctor added.

Hearing for Dia had been scheduled last night on a charge of reckless driving, Trooper McElfish said bond of $11.45 had been posted in the case.

Members of Dia's family, after they were unable tho locate him, reported him missing last night at City Police Headquarteds.

He was described as being five feet 10 inches tall and weighing about 170 pounds. He was said to have medium brown wavy hair and was wearing brown trousers, a tan sport shirt and brown shoes when he left home Tuesday about 9 p. m.

Lightning Hits Two Frostburg Homes

A series of electrical storms yesterday afternoon and early last night, with light rains, caused temperatures in Cumberland to drop 19 degrees within a few hours after an official high reading of 91 was reported at 2 p. m.

Lightning struck two Frostburg homes and killed a horse grazing in a field along Route 36 near Wright's Crossing, but no damage to power or telephone lines was reported in the county.

Rainfall in Cumberland amounted to only .05 inches as compared to 1.05 inches in the heavy rain early Monday morning, but Jennings Run at Corriganville rose an estimated four feet about 5 p. m. and it was necessary to move cattle out of a field along the run. The rise in the creek was believed due to hard rain in the Mt. Savage section.

S. Groff Haverstick, official weather observer at Frostburg, reported two heavy rain storms during the afternoon, with 1.62 inches of rainfall recorded within two hours. The maximum temperature was 89 but the mercury dropped to 72 after the two storms, Haverstick said.

Foreman's Physician Minimizes "Suicide" Theory

Bases His Opinion On Knowledge Of Case And Family Background

Dr. Richard J. Williams Says State's Attorney Has not Contacted Him For Information

The possibility that the death of John W. Foreman, Jr., 22, 905 Virginia Avenue, who authorities said died from other than natural causes, may have resulted from suicide, was minimized last night by the attending physician who based his opinion on "knowledge of the man and his family background."

Dr. Richard J. Williams, 1908 Bedford Road, who identified himself as the physician in charge of the Foreman case, said in a personal interview with a Cumberland News reporter, that he had been Mrs. John W. Foreman's physician for some time, and declared that from his knowledge of Foreman and the veteran's family background he did not think the young veteran was a suicide subject.

In answer to a reporter's question, Dr. Williams said that State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris, who has been identified as "heading the investigation," has not at any time called upon him for any information relative to the Foreman case.

A deputy in the office of Sheriff Edward R. Muir last night said the sheriff's office is still investigating the death of Foreman under the direction of State Attorney Morgan C. Harris. He said the officer assigned to the case is checking drug stores to determine what persons have purchased poisons of a "certain type" recently.

The News investigation also disclosed that Foreman had been keeping company with a married woman, and that at one time Foreman approached her husband and requested that the wife be given a divorce. The husband said last night he was aware of the fact that his wife had been seeing Foreman but declared the matter has been straightened out.

Gives History Of Case

Dr. Williams explained that when he first saw the patient after being summoned to the home, the case exhibited the usual signs and symptoms of a gastro-intestinal upset more commonly known as summer complaint.

When the patient did not respond to the usual treatment, according to the doctor, he concluded that "there was probably something more serious in the picture, especially when it was observed that a kidney shut down was becoming apparent."

Results of an autopsy made by county medical authorities, and later submitted to tests in the laboratory of a Baltimore toxicologist established proof that Foreman, who became ill on August 2, had died from poisoning, according to medical officials.

Dr. Williams said he admitted the patient to Memorial Hospital on August 6, and made a diagnosis of "chemical nephritis." He immediately called into consultation four other physicians and "a battle to save the man's life was started."

Special nurses were brought in on the case, according to the physician, and every facility of the hospital was willingly furnished. Several hours before death, Dr. Williams declared, the physicians were "in sight of victory."

The patient's kidneys were "slowly commencing to function," Dr. Williams asserted, adding, "however, the chemical agent, whatever it may have been, had so poisoned the heart that the patient gasped several times and died."

"I refused to sign the death certificate," Dr. Williams said, "because I thought that the case needed further study from a medico-legal standpoint. The deputy county medical examiner was called in, so that an autopsy could be ordered." The physician declared he does not know the chemical agent involved and that his responsibility in the matter ended when he turned the matter over to the medical examiner.

Cause Of Death Undetermined

Dr. Deming said last night that he still has not completed the death certificate filed with the Bureau of Vital Statistics, explaining it must be determined on the certificate if the death resulted from "suicide or homicide."

Meanwhile State's Attorney Harris was continuing to probe the case in his "close-mouth" manner. It was learned by the News that Harris had questioned at least one person yesterday, believed to have been with Foreman when he visited a West Virginia beer tavern on August 1, shortly before midnight.

Another source close to the case disclosed yesterday that Foreman returned from West Virginia shortly before midnight on Aug. 1 and after going home, again went out. Members of the family said they did not know what time he returned but they noticed the next morning that he had set an alarm clock to awaken him in time to go to work at the Celanese Corporation of America's Amcelle plant where he was employed in the Service Department.

Foreman, according to relatives, did not report for work on Saturday morning, however, because he was ill. Members of the family said he did leave the house on Saturday but they did not know how long he was away from home.

Sunday, members of the family said, the young man began suffering from nausea and asked that a doctor be called, "because I'm very ill and can't seem to keep anything

"DEATH BEING PROBED"— Authorities yesterday were continuing to investigate the death of John W. Foreman, Jr., (above) 905 Virginia Avenue, who medical officials said died in Memorial Hospital August 10 from other than natural causes.

Seven Diphtheria Cases Reported By Health Officer

Dr. Frantz Warns Against Disease

Stating that the Health Department has received reports within the past two weeks of four cases of diphtheria in the city, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, yesterday advised all persons suffering severe sore throat symptoms to seek medical attention immediately.

Dr. Frantz said that the four diphtheria patients are adults, although the ailment is usually confined to young children. Three other diphtheria cases have been reported in Lonaconing, but those patients are children, he added.

Warning that diphtheria is highly contagious, and is more dangerous in the case of young children than in adults, Dr. Frantz said the Health Department is anxious to prevent further spread of the disease in view of the fact that schools will reopen September 4.

He said that persons who believe they have tonsilitis may actually be suffering from diphtheria, adding that they may become carriers of the disease if they do not receive medical treatment.

The Health Department's long established program of immunizing babies and school children against the disease may be one reason why no cases of diphtheria have been reportedo among Cumberland children, Dr. Frantz said.

Adults are not immunized against diphtheria as a general rule because the disease is ordinarily confined to children, he added.

Police Seek Meyersdale Man Who Disappears After Leaving Hospital

William Dia Was Hurt In Accident

State and City Police last night were looking for William C. Dia, 24, Meyersdale, Pa., who reportedly disappeared yesterday morning an hour after he was released from Memorial Hospital where he was treated for minor injuries suffered in an automobile accident about 1 a. m.

State Trooper William McElfish said he drove Dia from Memorial Hospital about 10 a. m. to a North Mechanic Street garage where he and Warren R. Smith, Rouzerville, Pa., owner of a truck involved in the accident, discussed settling of damages.

Dia, the trooper said, suddenly disappeared and has not been seen since.

Members of his family came here from Meyersdale to try to locate Dia and told police, they said, that Dia on occasion had "fogged out" as far as his memory is concerned.

The accident happened when the car, police said, was driven by Dia crashed against Smith's parked truck, ran into the yard of a home and hit a tree in the Bowling Green section.

Trooper McElfish said Dia was traveling toward Cresaptown when his vehicle left the road and hit the truck, parked about 10 feet from the shoulder. The truck was turned over by the impact.

Then Dia's car plunged into the yard at the John C. Dicken home and hit a tree, the trooper said, adding that the automobile was badly damaged.

Dia was taken to Memorial Hospital and the attending physician said he was treated for a slight bump on the head. Dia remained at the hospital until about 10 a. m. and was perfectly all right when he left, the doctor added.

Hearing for Dia had been scheduled last night on a charge of reckless driving. Trooper McElfish said bond of $11.45 had been posted in the case.

Members of Dia's family, after they were unable tho locate him, reported him missing last night at City Police Headquarteds.

He was described as being five feet 10 inches tall and weighing about 170 pounds. He was said to have medium brown wavy hair and was wearing brown trousers, a tan sport shirt and brown shoes when he left home Tuesday about 9 p. m.
